

FORTY-FIVE YEARS FOR BANK ROBBER

PEACE IS GETTING NEARER

Splendid Work of the President Saves the Day.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., August 24.—President Roosevelt's moves to save the Peace Conference are following each other in quick succession. He is now believed to have taken a new step, possibly the final one, in the shape of a last appeal to both sides to leave the question of the purchase price of the northern half of the island board or commission.

FOR ARBITRATION.

Finally arbitration has been in the President's mind from the beginning. This, however, is an inference from what is actually known to have taken place last night and this morning. He sent to Mr. Witte during last night, a long message without doubt outlining the new step he had resolved upon.

Presumably this message was prepared after the President had received the account of Ambassador Meyer's audience with the Emperor at Peterhof yesterday. It would seem to follow logically that Mr. Meyer's reply was not satisfactory and therefore necessitated another appeal not to allow a mere question of money to stand in the way of peace and to suggest a new form of compromise for the point still in issue.

SENT TO PETERHOF.

The President's message reached Assistant Secretary Pelce and was placed in the hands of Baron de Rosen early today. After the baron had consulted with Mr. Witte the proposition was placed in the Russian code and dispatched to Peterhof. A reply to the President was delivered to Assistant Secretary Pelce at 9:30 this morning. Whether it was a response from Peterhof is not known. It may only have been a message from Mr. Witte giving his views of the new step proposed by the President. At any rate the summons to Mr. Pelce to receive it was an urgent one. Mr. Pelce was with Mr. Witte and Baron de Rosen twenty-five minutes. The message given him was immediately placed in the State Department cipher and it should reach Oyster Bay this afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt, in fact, if not in name, is acting the part of mediator.

ROOSEVELT AT THE FRONT.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., August 24.—The personality of President Roosevelt becomes larger and larger in the crisis. He stands between the warring nations insisting that the peace conference shall not fail. Had he not stepped into the breach the conference probably would have gone to pieces. Such hopes as remain that it will end in peace and a treaty, rest upon it.

The strength of the President's position is that he commands the confidence of both sides. He has already accomplished much in using his good offices to impress upon each side the necessity of mutual concession and both sides have already yielded a great deal to his persuasion.

SINGLE POINT.

ROBBED A BANK IN EAST

BANDIT DOES THE WORK ALONE AND MAKES HIS ESCAPE.

BARTLESVILLE, I. T., August 24.—An unknown man robbed the First National Bank of Collinsville, at Collinsville, a small town thirty miles south of Bartlesville, late yesterday and escaped with $1,200. Officers are in pursuit.

The lone highwayman rode into town just before closing time at the bank, entered the bank and at the point of a revolver forced the cashier to hand over all the money in sight. He then mounted his horse and dashed out of town. Two posse that gathered did not give chase until the robber had secured a good start.

LAWYERS ASSEMBLE AT NARRAGANSETT

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., August 24.—Alfred Hemmaway, of Boston, addressed the American Bar Association at today's session of the annual meeting of that organization on "The American lawyer."

JOHN ZIMMERMAN IS SENTENCED

JOHN ZIMMERMAN.

Comment is Made About the Money Put Up For His Defense.

MARTINEZ, Cal., August 24.—John Zimmerman, the man who held up John Daly and Frank Roche at Stege, last March and robbed them of $10,000 belonging to the Central Bank of Oakland, was this morning sentenced to forty-five years at San Quentin Prison.

Attorneys representing the defendant argued a motion for a new trial, which was denied.

A stay of ten days was granted.

District Attorney H. V. Alvarado, representing the people, handled this important case in a clever manner.

Judge William Wells, in sentencing the prisoner, did not make any comment. The appeal which is to be taken will stay the proceedings and Zimmerman will be kept in the County Jail.

It is evident that plenty of money is being expended in Zimmerman's defense, although he has not been long out of State Prison, and claims to have been penniless when arrested. The efforts being made in his behalf by his attorneys are strangely strenuous and persistent, seeing that they are exerted for a man who is a professional criminal, without means, unless he has the $9,000 stolen from the Central Bank messenger to draw on.

P. F. Benson, Zimmerman's chief legal adviser, has been making investments recently in the Southern part of the State, and curious people are impudently inquiring where the money came from. Benson denies getting any from Zimmerman.

ARMS ARE DEMANDED

Japanese Give Orders to Krupps to Rush Orders.

BERLIN, August 24.—Emperor William, the Associated Press is informed, has expressed to the members of his entourage cordial recognition of President Roosevelt's efforts for peace, and his hopes that they will prove successful. Precisely what the President is doing seems to be unknown to the German Government, but the postponement of further sittings is regarded as indicating that both belligerents desire to prolong the negotiations and that each is seeking fresh grounds for agreement. Russian shares were higher on the Bourse today, bonds advancing three-fifths of a point, Russian bank stock 1/2 and Warsaw and Vienna railroad stocks 1/2.

GOVERNOR NAMED

Japanese Give Orders to Krupps to Rush Orders.

PORTLAND, Ore., August 24.—Chairman George E. Barstow presented the report of the Irrigation Congress committee naming the officers for the ensuing year: George C. Purdee, California, president; L. W. Shurtliffe, Kentucky, first vice president; K. H. Stephens, Texas, second vice president; H. D. Maxon, Nevada, secretary.

GRAND JURY IS TO ACT

Censors Getting Ready to Bring In an Indictment.

The Grand Jury has been in session all the morning considering the testimony given before it in regard to the alleged stuffing of the county stationery bills. The District Attorney was on hand and it is believed that it is getting ready to take decisive action in the matter. There were no witnesses subpoenaed today other than Otto L. Hasse, the former manager of the Central News Store, who made out the bills in question and presented them for payment to the Board of Supervisors.

Just what action the Grand Jury proposes taking could not be ascertained, but it has the testimony of the county officers given before it last Tuesday and also the typewritten testimony taken down in shorthand during the investigation made by the Board of Supervisors. According to that testimony it was plain to the Supervisors that the bills had been stuffed and they cut them down nearly $1000 and then passed the question of punishment of the Grand Jury.

From intimations given out it is believed that the Grand Jury will come to the same conclusion as that arrived at by the Board of Supervisors and lay its hand upon any whom it believes is in any way implicated in the affair.

RUSSIA WILL NOT PAY MONEY

ST. PETERSBURG, August 24.—The correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company was today authorized by Count Lamsdorff, the Foreign Minister, to state officially and in the most formal manner that Russia will pay Japan no contribution, direct or indirect, nor will it make any cession of territory whatever.

LOST THE MONEY ON HORSE RACES

NEW YORK, August 24.—Charged with forgery of checks amounting to $40,000 against the estate of the late millionaire, D. P. Morgan, James Hennessy, the cashier of the estate was arrested in this city today, after being indicted by the Grand Jury. He pleaded guilty and was held for trial. Hennessy is alleged to have lost most of the money on the horses. The alleged theft took place last year. About two months ago one of the executors of the estate discovered them.

YELLOW FEVER IN A MICHIGAN CITY

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., August 24.—A case of yellow fever has been discovered in Crookery township, Ottawa county, ten miles from here. The patient is Godfrey Liburg, a telephone lineman, who left New Orleans a week ago last Tuesday. He was taken sick Saturday, but a physician was not called at once.

MINISTER TALKS WITH THE CZAR

ST. PETERSBURG, August 24.—Foreign Minister Lamsdorff went to Peterhof last night and discussed with the Emperor the communication of President Roosevelt presented by Ambassador Meyer yesterday. The Minister on the returning train told a friend that he considered there was still hope for peace. Ambassador Meyer's audience with the Emperor yesterday is considered a hopeful sign, but no information whatever concerning what took place has been given out.

UNHAPPY HOME OF AN ENGINEER

Bought Clothes for Himself and Took Up All the Room in the Closet.

"No, I am not weak. I have only done my duty. I have only told the truth, and the Lord will give me strength to do one's duty in a case like this."

These were the words of Mrs. Cinderella Williams, aged, paralyzed as to her right side, and bedridden, but whose mental faculties seemed unimpaired.

The words were uttered at the close of her story as a witness for the plaintiff in the divorce case of Mrs. Mary Wilson against J. L. Wilson, an engineer of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, whose home is in this city at 114 Chase street.

COURT IN BEDROOM.

For the purpose of listening to the testimony, there was a session of the Superior Court, Judge Waste presiding, held this morning at the bedside of the witness, at her home, 816 Chester street. There were also present Attorney L. S. Church, who represented the plaintiff, Mrs. Wood; Judge Gentry, who represented the defendant, J. L. Wood; Court Stenographer J. H. W. Riley; the plaintiff, Mrs. Wilson; and a daughter of the witness, Mrs. Henry Taylor, of Durham, Butte county, in this city.

PATIENT'S STRENGTH.

The session was not entered upon until Judge Waste had become satisfied, as had also the daughter of Mrs. Williams, that the taking of the evidence would not aggregate the attack under which the witness labored.

As the session advanced, both court and counsel inquired, from time to time, as to whether or not the witness felt fatigued, and the invariable reply was that she was not a bit tired, and, when the close of the session was reached, the witness gave the answer with which this report opens.

WANTED TO GO TO COURT.

Immediately following that answer Judge Waste said, speaking to the gentlemen in the party:

"Before you gentlemen appeared and when Mrs. Williams declared that she would be able to tell what she knew about this case, she said that she was sorry that she was not strong enough to go to court, because she would have liked to testify where she could be heard by the defendant, Mr. Wilson."

Attorney Church, in an easy and considerate manner, propounded the questions and the replies of the enfeebled witness came almost without an instant's delay. Mrs. Williams said that she had been a guest at the Wilson house for about six weeks, beginning in the latter part of November of last year, and continuing through the following December. The defendant Wilson had been there nearly every day of that time.

"Did you," asked Attorney Church, "observe Mr. Wilson's demeanor toward his wife?"

"Yes, sir; I did," was the answer.

"Describe them."

"He was very pleasant to me, but when his wife would be around, he showed an ugly disposition to her."

"In what way?"

"If he had to speak to her, he would be surly and snappish. It was not really what he said so much as the way he would look at her, as though, if he dared to do so, he would knock her down."

"How did Mrs. Wilson treat her husband?"

"LIKE A CHINAMAN."

"She always spoke kindly to him, even when he was cross. Even when he was ill-treating her, I never heard her say a cross word to him. Sometimes, when a meal was ready, he would come to the table and take the meat which was served to him—he would take the meat on his plate to the pantry and there eat alone, like a Chinaman. He would not sit down to the table with us."

"Can you recall any other incident?"

"Once he came in and his wife said to him 'The meal is ready.' Mr. Wilson picked up the coffee boiler in which the coffee had been prepared and threw the coffee out of it. I just made that coffee," said his wife. "I can make my own coffee," said Mr. Wilson, in an angry manner.

"Was there any other occasion when you heard cross words?"

"I heard them repeatedly every day. She would ask him something. She would say 'Well have to get a certain kind of groceries.' He would say 'I'll buy them when I get ready.' One morning she was eating some bread and there was only a little butter on the plate. She said to her husband, 'You have to get a square of butter.' Mr. Wilson said 'I've got plenty of butter for my bread.' He then walked out and we had no butter on our bread for breakfast."

"Can you recall any other strange conduct on the part of Mr. Wilson?"

HIS NEW SUIT.

"I remember once Mr. Wilson brought in a suit of clothes. It was in a box and about the holidays. I was delighted when I saw the box (Continued on Page 2.)

ROBBED AN OLD MINER

Desperate Fellow Shoots Victim and Then Takes His Money.

AUBURN, Cal., August 24.—John Caskey was arrested here this morning by Sheriff Kenna for extortion and attempt to murder Fred Venzke, at the Bald Mountain mine, on Tuesday afternoon. Venzke is superintendent of the mine, and Caskey worked there for the past year.

On Monday Caskey went to Last Chance, but returned on Tuesday and hid in a cabin.

When Venzke came out of his house Caskey slipped in and got a gun and coming up behind Venzke shot him in the leg near the ankle, tearing it badly. He then demanded $1,000.

Finally Venzke told him where he had secreted $140 in money and $120 worth of nuggets. These Caskey took and then demanded Venzke to sign a note for $300. Finally Venzke gave him a note for $100, and told him it was no use to kill him as he would call it an accident if he would take him to a doctor.

Caskey agreed and brought him to a hospital here.

Venzke kept the secret until this morning, when he told it, and the arrest followed. Venzke is a highly respected miner, fifty-one years of age; Caskey is twenty-nine years old. Venzke's leg will have to be amputated.

ENDED HIS LIFE BY GAS

SAN FRANCISCO, August 24.—Thomas W. Pratt, who came here from Fresno a year ago, committed suicide today at his home on Laguna street by inhaling illuminating gas through a rubber tube. He suffered from cancer of the mouth and believed that he could not recover.

PEASANTS DESTROY ESTATE AT BUTZKY

ODESSA, August 24.—Fresh agrarian disorders have broken out in the Elizabetgrad and Alexander districts, and the peasants are destroying the property of the land owners. A big estate at Butzky has been entirely demolished.

The President of the Elizabetgrad district seems to have permission of the government to convoke a meeting of the landlords with the view to settling the grain question.

SCHOONER RUN DOWN BY BATTLESHIP

NEWPORT, R. I., August 24.—While the battleship squadron was returning from maneuvering outside the harbor this morning the battleship Kearsarge, Captain Rodgers commanding, collided in a heavy fog in the outer harbor with a two-masted schooner. The schooner was brought to anchor and men in boats rescued all the members of the crew of the schooner. It is believed the battleship was not injured.

FRANCE AROUSED

PARIS, August 24.—The Ministers, under the presidency of Premier Rouvier, held a lengthy special session today. It was principally devoted to a consideration of the disciplinary measures to be taken against Morocco, should the Sultan not yield to the demands of the government for redress for the recent arrest of a Franco-Algerian citizen.

An official communication says that unanimous approval was given to the instructions to be sent to the French Minister at Fez, Talliander, and to the subsequent action to be taken to compel the Sultan to give complete satisfaction.

The nature of this action is not disclosed, but it is known that it contemplates the military occupation of a Moroccan town near the Algerian frontier, probably Oudjda, owing to its proximity to a large French garrison in Algeria, and to its strategic importance, as it commands the route to the interior of Morocco and the capital, Fez. The latest advice from Fez show that the Sultan continues to hold the Algerian a prisoner. The communication does not refer to the peace negotiations, although it is understood the Ministers formally discussed the general prospects of war.

Following the meeting Premier Rouvier sent instructions to the French Minister to demand the immediate release of the prisoner, informing him that a military demonstration would be made in case of a negative response. Later it was announced that the Ministers had decided that in case Morocco refused the French demands, the entire personnel of the French legation would leave Morocco simultaneously with the military demonstration.

A military demonstration against Morocco was considered by the Ministers to be preferable to a naval demonstration. The latter might involve international complications, as other powers, notably Germany, probably would send ships for the purpose of observing the French demonstrations.

However, France is the only power capable of executing a military demonstration without transporting troops, as there is a large force of French and native Algerian troops now stationed in Algeria, close to the Moroccan border. The French headquarters are at Laia Marria, sixteen miles from the Moroccan town of Oudjda, the occupation of which would place the French within two hundred miles of the Moroccan capital of Fez.

DROOPING LIP NOT EVIDENCE OF FAILING MIND

WOMEN PULL HAIR; MEN DRAW THEIR GUNS

Amusing Picture of a Bridegroom Not Admitted in Bump Will Contest.

Lively Mix-up of Two Families and an Outsider Will Result in Three Arrests.

A reference to a fresh society from the trial of the Bump will contest this morning gave a little variety to the otherwise rather prosaic examination of witnesses, while it incidentally reflected somewhat on the appearance of bridegrooms in general as they are apt to look immediately upon their emerging from the ceremony. The reference was to the marriage yesterday of the Vicomte Philippe De Tristano to Josephine De Guigne at San Mateo and reported this morning in the San Francisco dailies, in one of which is a large photograph of the bride and groom as they were leaving the church.

In the trial of the present case it is alleged by the widow of the late Nelson Bump that during the last few years of his life he was not competent to make a will and as one of the indications of this attempt was made to introduce a photograph of the old gentleman, showing him with his lower lip sagging and mouth open.

This morning's episode arose from an effort on the part of a lawyer, Countryman, to show by the photograph of the Vicomte De Tristano that the fact of a man's mouth being open when he had his picture taken need not necessarily be an indication of his mental incapacity. Taking up the paper and addressing the witness Countryman said:

"Mr. McDonald, will you look at this picture of the Vicomte Philippe De Tristano and Miss Josephine De Guigne and tell the court if you ever saw the late Nelson Bump hold his mouth in any such position as this man does in this picture?"

"You are hardly fair in your question, Mr. Countryman. You must remember that Bump had been married for nearly half a century," interrupted Judge Ogden.

There was a general laugh, and Countryman then proceeded to press the question. The witness was one of his own and what he wanted was to get a denial from him that Bump ever looked so insane as the photograph represented the Vicomte as looking, but Countryman had evidently neglected to sound his witness, the captain of a dredger, on the point before he came into court, with the result that after taking a good look at the picture the witness said, with a rub of his hand over his face, that as near as he could remember him that he did.

"Well, that ought to settle it. If he looked anything like the picture I contend that our point has been proved," remarked Attorney M. C. Chapman.

The court, however, ruled that the entire matter of the picture was incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and the incident and picture was consigned to the limbo of the waste paper basket.

The examination of the witness was then proceeded with, and in answer to one of the first queries put to him he stated that his name was M. A. McDonald and that his occupation was that of captain of a dredger belonging to a reclamation district, in which Merritt Island in the Sacramento river in Yolo county is situated. He is in a hurry to get back to his work and was called out of turn as a witness for the four daughters of Bump, who are defending his will against a contest instituted by their stepmother, who for twenty years was the old man's helpmeet and was cut off at the last with property valued at about $4,000. Among the daughters Bump divided an estate valued at upward of $35,000.

THREATENS SUIT.

McDonald testified that in July of 1902 he was working with the dredger along the lands of Bump not far from his home, which was on Merritt Island, just across the Sacramento river from the town of Courtland, where he was working. The river bounded the land on the south, Sutter slough bounded it on the west and Elk slough on the north. He was working along up Sutter slough and was about to enter Elk slough, when he was stopped by Bump, who threatened to bring suit against the reclamation district if McDonald took his dredger up Elk slough, for he contended that in order to get the dredger up the slough so much of the embankment would have to be cut away that the levee would be destroyed and the volume of water allowed to go in and out of the slough would be so great that it would cut away the land.

McDonald testified that he stopped work, but afterward did take the dredger into Elk slough, and that suit was subsequently brought by Bump against the district. This testimony was relevant, owing to the fact that Mrs. Bump, the widow, in her testimony testified that Bump's intellect had been impaired by an apoplectic stroke in 1900 and that he continued to grow worse up to the time of his death in 1904. McDonald testified that during the five or six weeks that he was working there that Bump used to come down daily from his home to the dredger and spend considerable time talking to him about the work.

Countryman then asked McDonald whether he was able to tell from those conversations whether Bump was sane or not.

Objection was made to this by Attorney Chapman on the ground that it had not been shown that McDonald was an intimate acquaintance in the legal meaning of the term, and his objection was sustained and McDonald was not allowed to give his opinion upon this point. Judge Ogden stating that he might say what Bump did and said and allow the court to draw its own conclusion from the facts.

The witness was then given over to Attorney Chapman for cross-examination and it is still proceeding.

"A Neighborhood Row" is the title of a serio-comic play which will be enacted all this week and all of next week in the Police Court before Police Judge Smith in which W. M. Exline, a contractor, residing at 333 East Oak street, and his wife, S. M. Gordier, a painter, and his wife, J. L. Tarver, a man who is building a house, while living in a tent, are the principal characters.

The play has its foundation on gunplay between the men, hatchet wielding and hair pulling between the women, and what happened to Mr. Tarver, an innocent party, who for the time acted in the role of peacemaker. Among the incidents of the main plot are borrowed pillows and bed clothing, the calling of names, the disruption of old friendships, the shooting of chickens and numerous other features that will go to make the force comedy presented before Judge Smith a success.

The initial performance was given this morning when Prosecuting Attorney A. P. Leach issued a warrant for the arrest of the various persons as follows:

For the arrest of W. M. Exline, on the complaint of S. M. Gordier, on a charge of exhibiting a deadly weapon in a threatening manner.

For the arrest of W. M. Exline, on the complaint of J. L. Tarver, on a charge of disturbing the peace by flouting a revolver.

For the arrest of Mrs. W. M. Exline, on the complaint of Mrs. S. M. Gordier, on a charge of battery, consisting of Mrs. Gordier being dragged across a forty foot lot by her hair.

There was still another person present who wished to have all of the parties arrested on three felony charges instead of three misdemeanor charges but Prosecuting Attorney Leach thought the peace, quiet and dignity of the neighborhood in the vicinity of Watson street and Lincoln avenue could be restored by three complaints of less magnitude.

According to the story told by Prosecuting Attorney Leach up to the grand mix-up and finale are as follows:

Mrs. Exline, on meeting Mrs. Gordier night before last, says:

"I will stop your credit with the vegetable man."

Mrs. Gordier—I believe that you will not be able to. (Passes on to the grocery store and comes back with her arms full of provisions and meets J. L. Tarver, who is building a house, while he lives in a tent.)

Mrs. Gordier, addressing Mr. Tarver, so that Mrs. Exline could hear—see that my credit has not been shut off. I got all of these things on credit.

Mrs. Exline, with some show of excitement—If you will return the pillows and bed clothing that I loaned you when you came here without any thing I will be much obliged to you.

Mrs. Gordier—Certainly, you may have your pillows. I will get them for you immediately.

Mrs. Exline—I will come to your house now so that I will be sure to get the pillows for you.

Mr. Tarver here passes on and Mrs. Gordier and Mrs. Exline pass up the street and resume conversation in front of the Gordier residence.

Mrs. Gordier—I will not trouble you to step into the house Mrs. Exline. If you will remain outside I will get your pillows for you.

Mrs. Exline—You need have no fear, madame. I have no desire ever to set a foot inside of your house. I furthermore would not consider myself a lady if I associated with you on a social equality.

Mrs. Gordier—I am just as good as you are, you big fat thing.

Mrs. Exline, grabbing a hatchet lying on the lawn—What do you mean by calling me names?

Mrs. Gordier—It is as fair for me to call you names, as it is for you to call me names.

Mrs. Exline (according to the statement made by her live la femme, Attorney Leach)—I have a good notion to smash your head with this hatchet.

Mrs. Gordier screams, rushes into the house and finally emerges with the pillow slips. She hands the slips to Mrs. Exline and follows that lady to the front gate.

Mrs. Gordier—I hope you are satisfied now.

Mrs. Exline (according to Mrs. G's statement)—I have a good notion to pull your hair.

Mrs. Gordier—You would not do anything like that.

Mrs. Exline (according to Mrs. G's statement)—Wouldn't it?

Mrs. Exline then it is alleged to have grabbed the long, thick locks of Mrs. Gordier and to have dragged her forty feet across to the street to a vacant lot. While the struggle was in progress Mrs. Exline is alleged to have bitten the little finger of Mrs. Gordier between her teeth and to have bitten that member to the bone. In reference to this episode, Mrs. Exline says that she was attacked first from the rear by Mrs. Gordier and that after the fight she called on Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Goodfellow and told him about it and at the same time asked him to while the Gordiers and Mr. Tarver a letter asking them not to kill any more of her chickens.

While the struggle between the two women was on, like the stage hero, Mr. Tarver appeared on the scene.

Mr. Tarver—Ladies, this is unbecomingly conduct. Allow me to separate you. Life subsided and the two women went to their respective homes.

That night at 8 o'clock Mrs. Exline called at the Gordier residence for the purpose of paying Mr. Gordier, who works for him, off. He rings the bell and Mrs. Gordier (coldly)—Good evening, Madame, I have called to see your husband.

Mr. Gordier (who is drinking a cup of tea, but is looking from the dining room to the front door)—I will be out in just a moment. Come in and have a seat.

Mr. Exline—No, I prefer to stay outside.

Mrs. Gordier (after finishing his tea and coming to the front yard)—I am ready to hear what you have to say.

Mr. Exline—I have come to pay you off.

Mr. Gordier—I will make out my bill and send it to you tomorrow.

Mr. Exline—There is no time like the present. I think that we had better settle this thing up, and then you keep on your forty feet and I will keep on mine.

Mr. Gordier—I think so, too. This row is beneath my dignity.

Mr. Exline then, according to Gordier's statement, pulled his revolver, thrust it under his nose, and said: "I have a notion to shoot your head off."

Mr. Gordier (picking up a pole lying on the lawn)—I will protect myself with this.

Mr. Exline—Go get your gun and I will meet you anywhere.

Mrs. Exline then appears on the scene very much excited. Throws her arms about her husband. "Don't shoot," she pleads.

Mr. Tarver, also, at the psychological moment, arrives.

Mr. Exline—Hey, stop, you long-legged, red-headed, spindly-stinked loafer! Come here, I want you.

Mr. Tarver stands still.

Mr. Exline (according to Traver's statement)—You get your gun and I will meet you half way.

Instead of doing as bidden, Mr. Traver sought the advice of the Prosecuting Attorney.

This ended the scene. Mr. Exline and his wife state that all of the trouble was caused by the actions of their neighbors. In picking up the hatchet Mrs. Exline says she merely wanted to frighten Mrs. Gordier and keep her from calling her unprintable names. Mr. Exline says he did not exhibit the pistol with the intention of killing any one, but only to impress the neighbors with the fact that he and his property were to be let alone.

The conclusion of the case will be told in the Police Court as the events transpire.

Beautiful, three young runaways from San Francisco, were arrested by the police last night. They will be returned to their parents.

CONFERENCE OF CITIZENS AND MEMBERS OF COUNCIL WITH MAYOR.

The result of the conference yesterday afternoon between Mayor Mott, the Citizens' Advisory Committee and the members of the City Council was the endorsement of the project to at once spend $50,000 in dredging Lake Merritt and filling in the park site below the Twelfth street dam.

It is understood that the improvement and beautification of Lake Merritt and vicinity received the heartiest endorsement.

Lake Merritt was not the only improvement taken by the Advisory Committee. The needs and necessities of the city in other parts were taken up and discussed. The improvement of the park owned by the city were the principal topics of discussion.

The meeting was an extraordinary one, and the improvement of the park will be passed at the next meeting of the Council.

PEACE IS GETTING NEARER

them, but it is as it has been from the beginning, the end.

Mr. Roosevelt's compromise proposition which Baron Komura formally presented at yesterday's meeting, in which Japan agrees to entirely withdraw articles 10 and 11 (surrender of interned warships and limitation of Russian naval force in the Far East) and substitute for articles 5 and 9 (cession of Sakhalen and indemnity), a number of articles provided for an arrangement by which Japan should get legal title to the southern half of Sakhalen which she possessed before the treaty of 1855, while Russia should redeem or repair her title to the northern half of the island for 1,200,000,000 yen or $600,000,000.

TEXT OF COMPROMISE.

While it is President Roosevelt's proposition in substance, the Associated Press is informed that as offered yesterday, it varies slightly from the text of the compromise as suggested to both sides. In exactly what it cannot be ascertained. Russia, it can be stated, while rejecting the compromise because it includes a reparation for the cost of the war under another name, was willing and indeed, offered the Island of Sakhalen by not only restoring the status quo existing before the treaty of 1855, but agreeing to limit the frontiers and forever renounce all claim to the southern half. With articles 10 and 11 and article 5 settled by compromise, the only thing which remains was the indemnity, which has been a stonewall across the horizon.

RUSSIA TO PAY.

Russia agreed to pay liberally for the maintenance of the Russian prisoners in Japan. Her cession of the Chinese Eastern Railway will also place a tidy sum in the Japanese exchequer, but fiftier than that. Mr. Witte has as yet no instructions. So the situation stood yesterday when the conference adjourned the day before. But the President did not surrender. He tried his appeal for peace to the czar. Ambassador Meyer's three-hour audience with Emperor Nicholas yesterday during the very time when the plenipotentiaries at the navy yard were explaining to each other their irreconcilable differences may have proved the deciding factor.

There is yet no clue to the response Mr. Meyer received from Emperor Nicholas, but it is already in President Roosevelt's possession and he is in position today to define his next step. If the Emperor declined absolutely to yield there may be still time to turn to a last appeal to foreign $300,000,000 or $500,000,000 rather than protract the war indefinitely at the cost of millions and millions and thousands of lives, with no surety that she will ever be able, with all her military skill, to force tribute from her adversary.

It can be stated now with absolute positiveness that this message to Emperor Nicholas yesterday, delivered to his Majesty in person by Mr. Meyer, was communicated to Mr. Witte and Baron Komura Tuesday afternoon at the navy yard. They desired that the Russian plenipotentiaries should be apprised of the steps being taken, and it is a fact that they, as is understood, approved of it is significant in the extreme. The plenipotentiaries at the navy yard continued themselves to communicating with Mr. Witte and Baron Komura. His role in the steps being taken was not in direct communication with St. Petersburg and Tokio. Now he has made his official appearance, personally, as the voice of one state to the head of another, to Emperor Nicholas.

LAST APPEAL.

It has failed there still remains a last appeal to the Emperor. Today, superficially at least, there is a pause. Mr. Witte and Baron de Rosen were off at 10 o'clock in an automobile, announcing that they were going to Muzulova to lunch with Baroness de Rosen at the Russian Embassy. They expected to return tonight, but might stay over until tomorrow. A little incident occurred just before they left, which might be significant. Mr. Peirce was hastily called for and came to the hotel. He was with Mr. Witte for the steps being taken. When they left Mr. Peirce dismissed the visitors with the explanation that it was only to make arrangements about the trip of Mr. Witte and Baron de Rosen. But twenty-five minutes is a long time and there is a suspicion that Mr. Witte delivered to Mr. Peirce a communication for the President.

PRICES VERBAT.

There is a report, which cannot be absolutely correct, that late last night Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira were at the navy yard. If this is true, it is possible that the President had some communication with them after hearing from Mr. Meyer. It seems that the protocols signed at yesterday's session of the plenipotentiaries were not protocols in the proper sense of the word. They were simply what in diplomacy are called "prices verbat" or minutes of the meeting. In Russian they are called "protocols" and as the Russians have made

FAVOR IMPROVING THE LAKE

CONFERENCE OF CITIZENS AND MEMBERS OF COUNCIL WITH MAYOR.

The result of the conference yesterday afternoon between Mayor Mott, the Citizens' Advisory Committee and the members of the City Council was the endorsement of the project to at once spend $50,000 in dredging Lake Merritt and filling in the park site below the Twelfth street dam.

It is understood that the improvement and beautification of Lake Merritt and vicinity received the heartiest endorsement.

Lake Merritt was not the only improvement taken by the Advisory Committee. The needs and necessities of the city in other parts were taken up and discussed. The improvement of the park owned by the city were the principal topics of discussion.

The meeting was an extraordinary one, and the improvement of the park will be passed at the next meeting of the Council.

come in. I thought it was a tailor made suit that he had got made for Mrs. Wilson, because she needed it badly enough. He took the suit out of the box and showed it to his wife. It was a suit for himself. When he put it on the table he said to his wife, "I want plenty of closet room. I've got four good suits and I don't want you to have any of your clothes in the closet over mine. I want to have plenty closet room." She said "I never do that. I haven't any clothes to cover yours in the closet. You'll have plenty of closet room."

"On another occasion she said, 'I'd like to get twenty-five cents to fix my dress bindings, because it's all worn off. I would like to get it fixed for the holidays,' but she got no satisfaction."

"What did he say when he swore?"

"He came in one evening and he took up the paper and read it. Mrs. Wilson talked about publishing things, and how they got into the newspapers. There was something in the paper that night about Mrs. Wilson and I handed the paper to him and said, 'Mr. Wilson, you didn't do that did you?' referring to the article in the paper. He said, 'Yes, I did.' I said, 'I don't believe a man would do that who has got so economical a wife as you have.'"

MRS. SADIE COE VICTIM OF PTOMAIN POISON

Congressman Knowland's Sister is Said to be at the Point of Death.

ALAMEDA, August 24.—Mrs. Sadie Coe, wife of Professor George A. Coe of the Northwestern University, and sister of Congressman Joseph A. Knowland, lies critically ill at Dr. Ward's Hospital in San Francisco, where she underwent a serious operation at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Coe with her husband had been spending their summer vacation in California, and had been staying with Mrs. Coe's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Knowland of Lincoln avenue. About three weeks ago she was taken with a serious illness and it was ascertained that she was suffering from an attack of ptomaine poisoning occasioned by partaking of shrimp salad.

She was brought out of this attack, but afterwards was in a weak condition from the effects of the poisoning, and subsequently complications set in, and on Sunday night her condition became such as to cause the gravest alarm, and it was finally decided to resort to an operation. Yesterday she was taken to Dr. Ward's Sanatorium where an operation was performed. Dr. Ward stated that her condition was quite serious.

This morning her husband sent word to Alameda that no further serious actions had set in. The condition of the unfortunate lady is still considered serious, and her life is practically hanging by a thread.

Mrs. Coe is in charge of the conservatory of music at the Northwestern University. It was their intention to take a year's leave of absence and they intended to sail shortly for Europe where they were to study higher education.

CONGRESS FOUND DELEGATES TO BE DISPUTE INSANE

Prominent Member is Called Upon to Make an Explanation.

PORTLAND, Ore., August 24.—The resolutions committee of the National Irrigation Congress struck a second stumbling block at its meeting today over a resolution declaring that there is no connection between the National Irrigation Congress and the National Irrigation Association, an incorporated body of whose board of directors, C. W. Booth, of Los Angeles, Cal., is chairman. Mr. Booth is also chairman of the executive committee of the National Congress.

Assertions were made that large sums of money have been collected in Chicago and points in the central West and in Montana by the association of manufacturers who have contributed to the association of several of the delegates to the Congress. After the committee had discussed the subject for over two hours, Mr. Booth was called to the committee room to explain what, if any, corporation, there existed between the two organizations.

Mr. Booth was under the impression that a personal attack had been made upon him, and from the outset resented any supposed insinuation that there had been any misrepresentation by him or by the association of which he was a director. Personalities were further injected into the discussion by the reading of an article reproduced from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, which in the opinion of several of the delegates left the impression that Mr. Booth was allowing his name to be connected with the two organizations in a manner that brought inevitable confusion.

It was stated by Mr. Booth, and in his statement he was substantiated by "committee" members who had not before asserted themselves on the subject, that while not connected with the Congress, the association had promised the delegates and he stated that during the last four years no Congress would have taken place without the financial and moral support of the association.

A substitute resolution by Senator Carter of Montana, stating that the National Irrigation Congress never has and never will have any connection with the National Association was adopted by the committee.

ALAMEDA, August 24.—The "call" firemen of the Alameda Department held a meeting at the office of Fire Chief Krauth last evening, when a relief board was organized. The paid men of the department are not eligible to participate in this fund. F. K. Krauth was elected president, F. C. Coghlin secretary and J. H. Malt treasurer.

A committee was appointed to pass by-laws, which was composed of Alfred Orton and Charles Berick of Truck No. 1, Frank K. Millington of Hose No. 1, Louis B. Lenz of Hose No. 2, George Wulzen of Hose No. 3 and M. H. Fish of Hose No. 5.

The initiation fee will probably be $2.50, and each member will pay 25 cents into the fund at every alarm.

Chief Krauth stated that the $50 donated a few years ago by Rev. Father Foley when the fire took place there for the good work of the department would be placed in this fund.

MOTHER SEARCHES FOR BOY

Lad Fails to Come Home and She Calls on Police.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 24.—The police have been asked to search for Norman Van Tassel, the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Van Tassel of 62 Eighth street. The boy did not return home from school yesterday afternoon and his mother is distracted with grief. Friends have inquired wherever a clew was promised, but no trace of the lad has been found, and Mrs. Van Tassel fears that she will never see him again.

The boy went to the Humboldt School yesterday morning as usual. He attended all his recitations and left the schoolhouse with the other children when they were dismissed at 3 o'clock. Of course, this much has been learned from his teacher, and some of his playmates, but no more is known. The boy did not appear at home. At first his mother thought he had loitered on the way with other boys, but when night came with him still absent she grew alarmed, and asked friends to help look for him. This morning she notified the police.

"I can not imagine what has become of my boy," said Mrs. Van Tassel this morning. "I do not think that he would have wandered off with other boys. He was more of a home boy of a timid disposition. He has always come home promptly from school immediately after the dismissal of the fifth grade, of which he is a member. Of course, I fear the worst but at the same time I don't know where to look or cannot even guess what might have become of him."

It was thought that the boy might be found where preparations are being made for the circus, but he was not there when friends looked for him. The police have been asked to keep a close watch, especially along the water front, there being considerable fear that the lad has been shanghaied.

MAY UNITE WITH THE BAPTISTS

Members of Christian Church Appoint Committee for that Purpose.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 24.—The International Missionary Convention of the Christian Church came to a close today. The committee to confer with the Free Baptists was made permanent.

With Rev. E. L. Powell in the chair, the last session of the Convention opened with song led by T. A. Abbott, of Missouri. J. H. Carrington followed with the last of his Bible readings on the "Holy Spirit." George L. Bush of McKinney, Texas, then addressed the Convention, his theme being: "If all Christians were Christians."

After attending to several matters of detail the Convention adjourned sine die.

This afternoon meetings of several affiliated societies were held. Tomorrow the delegates will leave for their respective homes.

PHYSICIANS QUARREL IN COLLEGE TOWN

Who Has the Right to Issue the Disability Vaccination Certificates?

BERKELEY, August 24.—A pretty tangle has come up between Health Officer Rheinhardt and the three doctors of Berkeley, who were appointed by the Board of Education upon the Health Officer's recommendation, to go the work of vaccinating the children of indigent parents in Berkeley.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night it was reported to the directors that Dr. Rheinhardt refuses to recognize disability certificates which have been issued to children by Drs. Hadden, Rowley and Benton.

Health Officer Rheinhardt claims that these physicians have no right to issue such certificates and that he alone is entitled to exercise this function.

The Board of Education condemned this attitude of the Health Officer as being arbitrary and improper. The three physicians are appointees of the Board, and their right to pass upon the condition of school children is conceded to be, by the directors, within the powers of the physician. It was decided to appeal the matter to Secretary Foster of the State Board of Health for a ruling, as to the powers of Dr. Rheinhardt in this matter.

Town Clerk Marrow was elected to write to the parents of the children who had received these disability certificates from the three physicians, and inform them of the action that has been taken.

Principal James of the High School reported that the teachers are now working during six periods of the day, instead of five periods, as formerly, and that if this extra work is apparently a necessity. The directors regretted it, but having no means to change the conditions, decided that the teachers must suffer the consequences until more funds can be secured by the Town Trustees.

The Board appointed a committee to draw up the advertising for plans for two new school buildings of twelve rooms each, one to be on Russ street and the other on Bancroft way.

Principal James was given permission to employ a clerk at a salary of $20 a month.

MORMON CONVERT IS FREE

She Will be Allowed to Join the Latter Day Saints.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 24.—Kate Smith, the alleged Mormon convert, who arrived here in charge of Latter Day Saint missionaries from Australia yesterday and was held by Immigration Inspector Griffiths, will not be a passenger on the return trip of the steamer that brought her to this port on her way to Salt Lake City. Griffiths telegraphed to the address given him by the missionaries in Utah, which they said was that of the girl's aunt, and received a dispatch this morning telling him that her aunt was awaiting her coming and would take care of her. This satisfied the regulations of the service and the girl was released.

The immigration commissioners look with suspicion on young girl "converts" destined for supposed polygamous communities. They have several times tried to intercept these proselytes under the rules aimed at traffic in immorality, but have seldom succeeded in interrupting the steady stream of young girls brought in by missionaries and taken to Mormon settlements in Utah, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. Four girls were stopped here last month and the department at Washington sustained the local officials and ordered the young women deported.

While awaiting the departure of the vessel that was to take them back to Australia they were assisted mysteriously to escape from the ship, and have not been seen since.

In all cases which have been investigated by the local officials the young women themselves have been unable to assist the missionaries, and it has been difficult to secure evidence. The girl released today corroborated the Mormon's story in every detail. She declined to make a statement for publication, saying she had come to this country for an education and that it is nobody's business what her religious beliefs may be. To the inspector she talked readily and intelligently, speaking English fluently, in spite of her evident Maori extraction.

THREE YEARS IN SAN QUENTIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Otto Vogel pleaded guilty to three charges of grand larceny before Superior Judge Laylor this morning, and was sentenced to three years in San Quentin on each charge. The sentences are to run concurrently, which means that the felon will be released in a little over two years.

Vogel is the grocery store clerk who would work one day in a place, familiarize himself with the cash register, and then decamp with the sales. The cases in which he was convicted were the robbery of Frank Hauston's grocery and bar on December 11 of last year. From this grocery store he stole $70 in cash and a diamond pin valued at $50. From Fritz Hilderbrand he stole $70 on June 15 last, and a few days later he looted the cash register in Frederick Hiltz's place, securing $78.

Judge Calhoun will probably remain here two months.

EDDIE SMITH MAY REFEREE THE BRITT-NELSON FIGHT

Famous Tribune Writer Gives Point on Fight.

Says Gardner and Ryan Will Put Up a Good Go.

EDDIE SMITH, THE FAMOUS LOCAL REFEREE, WILL REPORT THE RYAN-GARDNER FIGHT AT COLMA TOMORROW NIGHT EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE. MR. SMITH WILL ALSO WRITE FOR THE TRIBUNE, EXCLUSIVELY, ALL THE PRELIMINARY GOSSIP CONCERNING THE BRITT-NELSON CONTEST WHICH WILL BE HELD AT COLMA ON SEPTEMBER 9. ON THAT DAY MR. SMITH WILL BE AT THE RINGSIDE, AND WILL REPORT EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE THIS FAMOUS CONTEST.

EDDIE SMITH IS THE BEST KNOWN REFEREE WEST OF CHICAGO. HIS HONESTY HAS NEVER BEEN QUESTIONED AND HE STANDS AT THE VERY TOP OF THE LADDER. HIS ARTICLES IN THE TRIBUNE ARE READ ALL OVER THE COUNTRY, AND NEARLY EVERY SPORTING EDITOR OF ANY PROMINENCE SENDS TO THE TRIBUNE TO GET EDDIE SMITH'S OPINION ON THE VARIOUS FIGHTS WHICH HAVE TAKEN PLACE.

MR. SMITH IS REGULARLY EMPLOYED AS THE SPORTING WRITER ON THE TRIBUNE. ONLY ONE THING MAY TAKE PLACE THAT MAY PREVENT HIM FROM CARRYING OUT HIS CONTRACT. THERE IS A STRONG PUBLIC DEMAND TO HAVE MR. SMITH REFEREE THE FAMOUS BRITT-NELSON FIGHT. HIS NAME IS ON EVERYBODY'S LIPS IN SAN FRANCISCO AND OAKLAND, BECAUSE THEY KNOW THAT IF MR. SMITH IS SELECTED REFEREE, THE PUBLIC WILL BE GIVEN AN ABSOLUTELY FAIR DEAL. IF MR. SMITH SHOULD BE ELECTED AS REFEREE, OF COURSE, HE WILL BE RELEASED FROM HIS CONTRACT WITH THE TRIBUNE IN REGARD TO WRITING UP THE CONTEST.

EDDIE SMITH, THE FAMOUS REFEREE AND TRIBUNE SPORTING WRITER.

SECTION WITH THE TRIBUNE IN REGARD TO WRITING UP THE CONTEST.

BY EDDIE SMITH

The Ryan-Gardner fight had its inning last night among the sports about the sporting resorts. It seemed to be the opinion of the majority that this contest is destined to be one of the fastest and hard fought fights seen in California.

Jimmy Gardner was the favorite among those that think they "know," and he will no doubt be made a decided favorite in the betting.

Ryan is not without admirers, and it is easy to find argument to the effect that he has it on Gardner.

Buddy claims that he was sick and not in a fit condition to fight the last time the two met, when Gardner beat him, and that he has been anxious for a long time to get a chance at Jimmy at a weight he could be strong. He claims that he is in good condition this time, and that he will have no excuse to offer from that score. From the way Buddy has trained it looks as if he intended to make a rough fight from the start to the finish.

Buddy says he is stronger than Jimmy, and that he will be able to wear him down before the twenty-five rounds are over.

After the Gardner-Turner contest the opinion seemed to be out that Gardner was easy to hit in the body, and when I saw him boxing with Joe Angell, who is an exceptionally good body fighter, yesterday, I took particular pains to see just how open he really was in the section-the gallery call the "lunch room." I must say that he is not the easy mark to hit in the body that those who have seen him perform at Colma would have one think. He has a way of hitting with his right hand and then dropping it right across his stomach. And to block his opponent's right for the body he has his left elbow, having such long arms it is a very easy matter for him to cover his body in such a way that it would seem almost impossible to get inside.

In the coming fight Jimmy will depend on his straight left-hand leads to a great extent, as Buddy is rather open for a good left hand boxer, and so long as Jimmy can hold him off at that distance he will be safe from counters, as Ryan's reach is so much shorter.

Ryan has a way of turning his head away from straight left leads that makes it hard to get him. When this fact was mentioned to Gardner, he said: "Well, if he turns his head I'll faint at him, and when he turns his head I'll hook him with my left."

Jimmy seems to be very confident of winning, in fact, he is more confident by a great deal than he was before the Turner fight.

The difference in the weight will not be much, probably three or four pounds, as Ryan will no doubt come in just at the 142-pound mark, while Gardner will weigh around 138 pounds. This is what he weighed yesterday. The men are in great condition, and both realize that to win this fight means some good fat purses this winter, and to lose means to go back East and box for small purses.

Ryan says he will have Jimmy Britt in his corner and Battling Nelson has already promised Gardner to help second him. This in itself will be quite a feature.

WOMEN OF WOOD CRAFT.

Oakland Circle No. 255, Women of Woodcraft, enjoyed a pleasant gathering last Saturday evening.

Officers who had returned from the summer resorts were installed, and Miss M. Fox, who had been acting as captain of the guards, during Capt. Miller's absence, was presented with a gold pin for her untiring efforts. At the close of the Circle games and dancing were indulged in, followed by refreshments. Next Saturday evening, August 26, the Circle will entertain its members with games of whist and beautiful prizes have been secured for the lucky ones.

SULTAN'S DINNER—$5,000 A DAY.

(Philadelphia Bulletin.)

The Sultan of Turkey's dinner costs him $5,000 a day. The table is of silver, and it is said to be the most exquisite specimen of the silversmith's art that the world contains. The dishes are brought in upon the heads of jokers, or cooks' assistants, and each dish is covered and sealed with the royal seal. There are always fifty or more dishes, and all are set before the Sultan at the same time. He eats, usually, from about six. Though the Sultan is himself a total abstainer, the finest vintage wines are always offered to such guests as dine at the palace.

Every dish the ruler partakes of is first tasted in the kitchen by the Grand Vizier, lest it be poisoned, and it is immediately thereafter that its sealing takes place. Always, before he can fall to on a dish, the Sultan must break its seal. It is not because he eats $5,000 worth of good himself that the Sultan's dinner bill is so expensive. He eats, as a matter of fact, no more than a half dollar's worth. But the guests and retainers who dine at his expense number daily several thousand.

COLLINS CLOSELY GUARDED

FUGITIVE ATTORNEY CONSTANTLY WATCHED BY BRITISH DETECTIVE.

VICTORIA, B. C., August 24.—From 11 yesterday morning until 6 last night W. J. Taylor, K. C., argued before Justice Duff of the Supreme Court in behalf of the motion to release George D. Collins under habeas corpus. No new facts or interpretation of facts entered into consideration; the question was simply one of legal construction. Denial of any perjury on Collins' part in Canadian law was the keynote of the address. At the continuance Friday morning Mr. Taylor will discuss the American law applying to the case.

Special attention was today directed to the fact that no Bible figure in Collins' affidavit, counsel holding that to admit an oath in this instance would subordinate the entire form prescribed for oath administration. The evidence of accused respecting his contract marriage, also was dealt with exhaustively. It is expected that Mr. Taylor will close Friday, and Mr. Higgins will reply about Wednesday. If Collins' application is refused by Justice Duff, Collins will be taken to the list of available prisoners until the list of available prisoners is exhausted. Collins was occasionally during today's proceedings by Detective Cox's literary sidebars, and he was vexatious and offensive. Superintendent Husey has given Cox these instructions:

"Your duties as to guarding Mr. George D. Collins, committed for extradition, are as follows: You are to take the prisoner from the city lockup every morning, and remain closely with him all day, never letting him leave your side for a moment (these nine words are conspicuously underlined); either inside or outside any room, office, hotel or other building, and to return him to said lockup not later than 8 o'clock every night. Under no circumstances are you to deviate from the above instructions."

Like Finding Money. Finding health is like finding money—so think those who are sick. When you have a cough, cold, sore throat or chest irritation, better act promptly, like W. C. Barber of Sandy Level, Va. He says: "I had a terrible chest trouble, caused by smoke and coal dust on my lungs, but after finding no relief in other remedies, I was cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds." MRS. BRUGUIERE WILL FIGHT

RETAINS ATTORNEY TO DEFEND HER IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

RENO, Nev., August 24.—Dr. Bruguiere, San Francisco's well known physician and art patron, has a battle on his hands. His wife is to oppose his suit for divorce and the first step was taken today when John J. Barrett, an attorney of San Francisco, arrived here and made application before the Supreme Court for a license to practice in the courts of Nevada. The application was granted at Carson this afternoon and late tonight he left for San Francisco.

Mrs. Bruguiere has forty days yet in which to file her answer to her husband's complaint, and Mr. Barrett this evening stated that his client will take the full time in which to file a reply. "Dr. Bruguiere has assumed a large task," said Mr. Barrett, "when he undertakes to secure a divorce from his wife on the grounds of desertion. We will certainly resist to the utmost his claim on this point."

Mr. Barrett spent the evening in consultation with E. R. Dodge, a well-known attorney and former partner of Attorney General Webb of California. Though not announced in so many words, it is understood that Mr. Dodge will be associated with Mr. Barrett in the suit which will be tried before the District Court here.

Whether there will be any cross complaints in this suit, I am not in a position to state at the present time," said Mr. Barrett. "We will certainly attack the claim that Dr. Bruguiere gained a residence in Nevada, and perhaps there will be other points brought out. Whether they will be sensational or not, of course I cannot state at the present time. It will be time enough for that when we file our answer."

MORAN'S SUITS Are Really MADE TO ORDER

FOR INSTANCE:—A merchant tailor measures you and tacks your clothes together; then there's a careful "try-on" after which your suit is finished.

Now What Does Moran Do?

You select a suit of clothes of a pattern that exactly suits you; then his expert cutter and fitter gives you a most careful "try-on;" he's just as particular about details as your merchant tailor friend. He studies your shoulder, your back, the "hang" of the entire suit—and when you get it, it looks as if you'd been moulded into it.

And MORAN'S PRICE will be from $12.50 to $27.50

And the merchant tailor would charge from $20.00 to $40.00.

TRUSTED CLERK A FORGER

FLEECES MORGAN ESTATE BY MEANS OF FRAUDULENT CHECKS.

NEW YORK, August 24.—Through forgeries said to have been committed by a trusted employee in the office of the estate of D. P. Morgan, New York banks have been victimized to the amount of about $44,000. The Morgan estate was left by the late D. P. Morgan, and among the heirs are Hewitt and D. Perry Morgan and Mrs. Rudolph Herman Kissell, who was Caroline Morgan.

The clerk in question, by means of checks torn from the back of a check book obtained the proper form and it is charged, forged the name of Hewitt Morgan to several checks, varying from $1,000 to $3,500. So close was the signature of Mr. Morgan imitated that the paying tellers of three banks in which the estate had deposits readily paid out the sums.

called for by their face. A statement made by one of the Kissell family is to the effect that the forgeries were discovered by Rudolph Kissell who happened to be in the cashier's office when notice of an overdraft was received from a New York bank. One of the clerks said it was a mistake and started for the bank ostensibly to have the matter rectified. Not returning, he was traced and found in another State. Then he confessed and returned to New York voluntarily.

AUTO IS WRECKED BY TRAIN

THREE MEN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN COLLISION AT OAKDALE.

NEW YORK, August 24.—Three men, guests of Commodore Frederick G. Bourne of the New York Yacht Club, had a miraculous escape from death late yesterday when their automobile, travelling about fifty miles an hour, was struck by a train on the Long Island railroad at Oakdale, and demolished. The men were thrown thirty yards with the wrecked machine but received nothing more than a few bruises and a scratch here and there. Fictitious names were given to the train crew by the lucky automobilists who are said to have been men well known in business and club circles in New York. They had been guests of Commodore Bourne at his country place, and were returning to New York, when the accident occurred. The engine driver did not see the automobile until he was upon it, and the fender hit the motor squarely in the center and huried it into the air. So great was the force of the collision that the heavy touring car was broken in two parts, each of which landed thirty yards away in the bushes.

"ROUGH HOUSE" IN RESTAURANT

ATHLETIC VIRGINIAN RUNS AMUCK AND FINALLY GOES TO JAIL.

NEW YORK, August 24.—Incensed by lack of attention in a well known up-town restaurant last night, a man of athletic mould, who said he was Col. Tazewell Ellett of Richmond, Vir., gave battle to several waiters and caused a stampede of diners to the street. Police who interfered were badly mauled by the Colonel, and it required the joint efforts of five bluecoats to land him in the station.

Just what started the battle is not known. The unusual noise attracted a large crowd around the doors, and the police had to force their way in. They found the irate Colonel, chasing the waiters in all directions. He was dragged to the sidewalk and on reaching Broadway he turned on his captors, knocking four of them down in quick succession. Reserves were called and the prisoner was soon overpowered by the reinforcements.

CHARGES AGAINST SENATOR

Burton Alleged to Have Been Paid For Warrants.

WASHINGTON, August 24.—The Post today says that officials from the Departments of Justice and of the Interior who have been investigating the Chickasha School warrant cases last night made public portions of the records which have been unearthed as alleged to implicate Senator J. B. Burton of Kansas with pressing these claims before the Government while holding the position of United States Senator in contravention of law. The Post adds:

"In all, twenty-six Chickasha warrants aggregating $14,000, have been paid to Senator Burton or his brother, Z. T. Burton, with whom he is alleged to have formed a partnership since March, 1901, when Senator Burton took the oath of office.

"Six of the Chickasha warrants issued in October, 1901, and aggregating $5,500, were paid directly to J. B. Burton. This was seven months after Senator Burton had taken the oath of office. Twenty warrants, aggregating about $9,000, were subsequently made out in favor of Z. T. Burton. It is alleged that the service for which these warrants were made out in payment, was pressing Chickasha claims before the Government. It is also contended that Z. T. Burton never appeared before the Department of the Interior and never practiced law in the Indian Territory, but that his name was used as a blind by the Kansas Senator."

AIR BREAKS FOR ALL FREIGHT CARS

CHICAGO, August 24.—The Tribune today says: A move to be inaugurated by the Pennsylvania company next summer will assist the Interstate Commerce Commission's fight for the equipment of all freight cars with air brakes.

After July 1, 1906, it was announced yesterday, the company will accept no car from a foreign line unless it is equipped with air brakes. The road will refuse to let any of its own cars not so equipped go beyond its lines. This will place a practical embargo on the cars that do not meet the safety requirements of the Commerce Commission.

MRS. WIGGS COMING

Playgoers promise to give "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" an enthusiastic reception upon the opening of her limited engagement at the Macdonough Theatre August 23, 24 and 25. Mrs. Wiggs for the previous season. Every time she left the Cabbage Patch in Louisville she has been making thousands of friends, and the droll philosophy of this feminine optimist has carried around the world. Madge Carr Cook, mother of Eleanor Russell, the actress who has taken the role, and Joe Jefferson has informed her that she will have to die Mrs. Wiggs. The prospect does not displease this strolling actress, who has earned a deserved fame on both sides of the Atlantic. Beside Barrisale, whom local theatergoers will remember as the most engaging "Madge" who ever essayed that popular role "In Old Kentucky," is the lovely Mary this season, and she has displayed a capacity for brilliant character work that has surprised the audience. The two actresses, Miss Barrisale's work is characterized by strong individuality and a blending of pathos and of humor that make laughter and tears ripple through the role like sunshine and shadow over a whole field. Helen Lowell is the comely old maid, Miss Hazy, whose character stands out in the estimation of many people as strongly as that of Mrs. Wiggs herself. Certain it is that Miss Hazy is something new in types, and the artistic work of the clever young actress has been praised everywhere for its originality and artistry. One cannot imagine any one but Charles Carter in the role of Mr. Stubbins, and he still wows and wins Miss Hazy, who falls from grace and disappears for a time from the Patch in a freight car. Mr. Stubbins is a well spring of hearty laughter, and Carter steadily adds to the mirth-making in the role. Memorable as was his Cy Potts in "The Old Homestead," Miss Stubbins is much more irresistible. By special request two p. m. Seats now on sale.

MEASURES.
A gallon is exactly ten pounds of distilled water, so when housewives say "A pint's a pound the world around" they are mistaken.
The imperial standard yard, which is the same as our own, is the distance between two fine lines on a bar of bronze, measured at 62 degrees Fahrenheit. The bar is kept mounted on eight rollers in a special steel safe in London.
The standard pound is kept in a silver-gilt box containing in a bronze bowl the top of which is securely screwed down and the whole placed in a special compartment of the same safe.
The German metric system took the place of more than twenty local measures. "The Hesse-Darmstadt foot" was less than ten inches, the Schwarzbürg-Rudolstadt foot more than fifteen.

MISERS OF WORDS.
We have the richest language that ever people have covered, and we use it as if it were the poorest. We heard of "four infinite wealth of words" between the boards of dictionaries and in speech dole out the worn bronze coinage of our vocabulary. We are the misers of philology. And when we can't save our pennies and pass the counterfeit coin of slang, we are as happy as if we heard a blind beggar thank us for putting a pewter sixpence into his hat.—Morris of Marcus Ordeyne.

APPOINTMENTS BY COMMANDER

PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR ENCAMPMENT OF THE G. A. R.

DENVER, August 24.—Announcement of three important appointments, in connection with the coming national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic has been made at headquarters of the local executive committee.

Orders were received from Commander-in-Chief John R. King of Baltimore assigning General George W. Cook, chairman of the local executive, to the post of Assistant Adjutant-General. The duty of the new assistant is to scrutinize the plans of the local committee in charge of the arrangements for the encampment and give the commander-in-chief's endorsement. The appointment is a practical endorsement in advance of General Cook as head of the local committee. In his new capacity as Assistant Adjutant-General, General Cook has endorsed the appointment of Colonel George A. Randolph of Denver as marshal of the parade, and General Sherman M. Bell, of Denver, former Adjutant-General of Colorado, as vice-chairman of the information committee. The latter will have complete supervision of the care of encampment visitors from the moment they arrive in the city until they reach their quarters. He will be assisted by three hundred uniformed men.

Most complete emergency plans have been made by the chairman of the medical and public comfort committee. Two hundred experienced men have been engaged to act as ambulance attendants, and all the physicians and surgeons in the city have volunteered to devote a certain amount of time on duty at dressing stations which will be located at intervals throughout the downtown districts.

General Cook has given it as his opinion that previous estimates of the number of visitors to Denver during the encampment have been low; that at least 125,000 will attend. As an indication of the probable total, General Cook said that Kansas alone will send 25,000.

COMPANY LANDS A BIG CONTRACT

RICHMOND GRANITE WILL GO INTO NEW CUSTOM HOUSE.

POINT RICHMOND, August 24.—The Wilson-Lyon Construction Company has landed a contract which will go a long way toward the expansion of Richmond's rapidly growing industries. They have been awarded the contract for furnishing the granite for the new United States custom house building in San Francisco. The building will be erected on the site of the old postoffice at Washington and Battery streets. It will be a large modern building.

This contract will start the stone yards on Seventeenth and Chanson avenues in Richmond going in great shape, and will make that a lively corner of the city. The contract will cause the works to run with full capacity, night and day, for over a year, giving employment to 100 men. This will add another resource to Richmond's great prosperity. Business will boom from now on. Get in line everybody. It is no time for laggards.

CONTRACTS LET.

The Van Emden Coca Company has let the contract for the carpenter work on their proposed buildings on Richmond avenue, near the Southern Pacific depot, to C. W. Wilkins, of Oakland. The main building will be 36 by 100 feet and will be three stories high. It will contain 36,000 feet of lumber, and the contract price is $10,000. Henry Dradth, of Oakland, has secured the contract to do the concrete work, and he will commence work upon the foundation this morning. He has but eighteen days to finish his portion of the work.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Alice Harlow has returned from Portland and other northern points. James Crulekshank is finishing up the Astor cottage in Santa Fe territory. Mrs. R. A. Reynolds went to the city to attend the funeral of S. B. Jones, an old time friend. E. J. Don has been on the sick list for several days on account of an abscess in one of his ears. Elsie Allen has broken up housekeeping for a while on account of his wife's health. They have taken rooms and will board with Mrs. Cresson on the south side. The house of Mrs. Aine on Kensington road will be occupied by Bert Klingsbury. J. P. Williams, who was superintendent of construction of the Santa Fe line when it was building to Richmond, was a visitor here yesterday. Miss Betula Robbins, of Stockton, was the guest of Mrs. L. Boswell, of Santa Fe, Monday.

Mr. Cramer, the architect and builder, was over from the city yesterday. M. P. Hudson, R. Greathouse, T. G. Conn, W. H. Conn and Wm. Irwin, all accompanied by their families, left today for El Robles, up on the Russian River.

Have You Indigestion

FRUITOLA will cure it. FRUITOLA is a food as well as a medicine, and while cleansing the system, removing all obstacles to perfect digestion, will furnish the nourishment your system lacks. Try it. Prove it for yourself. One dose will convince you.

Oakland, Aug. 11th, 1905. Wishart's Drug Store, Oakland, Calif.—Gentlemen: Such grateful thanks for the beneficial results and great relief obtained, I congratulate myself for having acted upon your suggestion to give Fruitola and have a trial for a most stubborn case of indigestion. I realized more speedily and permanently relief from their use than from all other medicines I have ever taken, which in the past ten years have been numerous. I most earnestly and conscientiously recommend their use to all sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion. Yours truly, R. S. GUTHRIE. Bookkeeper, Frank E. Mott Co., 910 Broadway.

Sustain the Night School

For a number of years there has been a quiet but persistent effort to abolish the night classes in the public schools. Nobody will admit a desire to abolish them, but—and this is always the excuse of furtive indirection—it is alleged at different times that there is not enough money and that the High School must suffer if the night school is kept going. It always is the same proposition—"See no way out of it but to suspend the night classes." Every time a cut in school estimates is made necessary the hatchet is invariably lifted at the night school. Every other special class, course or side issue in the school department yells "cut off the night school." That is the common object of attack. It has no recommendation save its usefulness. Its beneficiaries are the poor and friendless, and hence it has no "pull," no friends in high places, no champions among those who serve the dear public with the sweat of their brows. A gang of young roughs such as has terrorized Fruitvale during the past year has more influence in politics than all the night scholars put together, yet boys who are attending night school because they are employed in gainful labor during the day are not making a playground of the streets after nightfall and are undergoing an apprenticeship for a criminal career, but are endeavoring to acquire knowledge and fit themselves for honorable citizenship. They work hard and study hard. Yet some people who ought to be ashamed of themselves would deny them the opportunity of snatching an education from the hours ordinarily devoted to rest and recreation. Again and again—nobody seems to exactly know how or why—the suggestion bobs up that the night classes be abolished. It is up once more, breathed into the air by a voice hidden behind a curtain. It should be put aside and rebuked as it has been in times past. Although no provision for the maintenance of the night school was included in the estimate of school department expenses it is to be hoped that public opinion will compel the omission to be supplied. If the sentiment of the community is not aroused in this particular the night classes will be suspended, and one of the most useful and necessary features of the scheme of popular education cut off that more money may be expended in other directions. More money is asked for nearly everything else. Is this the reason why none was asked for the night school?

According to a report issued by the health department of Chicago, the death rate in that city from nervous disorders has decreased more than fifty per cent in twenty years. In 1885 17.5 in each 1000 deaths were due to nervous diseases. In 1904 the percentage was 8.5 in each 1000 deaths. On the other hand, there has been a notable increase in pulmonary complaints.

A telegram to the Sacramento Bee says Western Pacific engineers are busy surveying in the Beckwith section. It would be more welcome news to learn that Western Pacific constructors were busy digging at any point along the proposed line.

Los Angeles is urging the State Board of Equalization for a 25 per cent reduction in the assessment. A reduction in the school census of Los Angeles would come nearer squaring with justice.

The editor of the Visalia Delta is not a genius with a wooden leg, but, like Silas Wegg, he occasionally drops into poetry—or into what the department store salesmen would call "something equally as good." His latest effort runs in this strain:

When once estranged conditions come
And there is daily strife,
'Tis no use for a man to try
To please a fretful wife.

It would be interesting to learn the subject of discussion in the domestic conference at the editor's home prior to the above assault on the Muse.

Fire Protection in Los Angeles

The facilities of Los Angeles for fighting fire have just come in for a scorching criticism at the hands of a committee of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, appointed to examine into the methods of building inspection and fire protection in the Southern metropolis. The report stigmatizes six blocks out of fourteen in the mercantile section as "conflagration breeders." Building inspection is denounced as perfunctory and inefficient, most of the electric wiring in the city being pronounced as defective and therefore dangerous. The water system comes in for the severest criticism, however. The distribution system is bluntly characterized as "inadequate." The number of gate valves are "insufficient" and the hydrants are "too widely spaced and of poor type." The mains in the congested district are alleged to be entirely too small for the demands on them in case of fire emergency. Apparently municipal ownership has not solved the water problem in Los Angeles, if this report is an index to the situation, for the city not only needs more water and more reservoirs, but a reconstructed distribution system also.

The schools have reopened after the mid-summer vacation with an increased attendance, which is somewhat embarrassing on account of the lack of classroom due to the unfinished condition of the new buildings. The classrooms are crowded to an extent hardly appreciated by the general public. Because of this condition a fire in any one of the schools would be fraught with unusual peril. For this reason the department officials should take extra precautions to guard against fire and its consequences. The thing to be most dreaded is a panic. This should be guarded against in every possible way. The most effectual guard is to drill the children so that they keep order and respond obediently to the word of command. While the session is new they should be put through the fire drill as often as may be necessary to make them proficient in it. If the heads of the School Department have not already directed the attention of school principals to this matter it is time they did so. The last time a fire broke out in one of the Oakland schools the value of the fire drill was signally demonstrated. It should not be neglected.

Congressman Longworth of Ohio has experienced the irony of fate. He rescued a drowning man in the Philippines, and reaped the satisfaction of having his name printed "Longworthy."

The Malvolio of the Press

The editor of the Fresno Republican is good—good of such a rare, sublimated goodness that he only reflects evil in others. It is natural that a man of this ethereal and superlative virtuous type should be continually lecturing his neighbors on their morals, their manners, their deportment, their grammar, their choice of subjects to discuss, their selection of news matter to feature for prominence, their manner of treating public questions. It follows, of course, that he has made himself a bore, a well-meaning nuisance, who takes himself so seriously as to cause others to take him lightly—as something between a joke and a jest. It is to be regretted, for he has ability, and is sincerely desirous of serving the public. But unfortunately he endeavors to serve the public in a way that arouses more exasperation than appreciation. No matter how benevolent his intentions may be, people generally cannot abide a prig, a pedant and a busybody—a solemn ass, like Malvolio, who is forever going about the world with a long face, parading his own virtue and lamenting the wickedness around him. His persistence in telling other publishers how they should edit their papers is a good deal like the Ahkond of Swat instructing the cabinets of Europe on the business of government, locally and generally. He is a sort of journalistic Dowie—a prophet without honor in his own or any other country.

These remarks have been suggested by the fact that the editor of the Republican maunders through half a column of inane rot to make plain the fact that he is yet to be made acquainted with the familiar process of "rehashing," so common to newspaper offices.

HARCOURT AND CIGARETTES.

One Horace Harcourt, whose prototypes are legion and scattered throughout all cities between the Atlantic and Pacific, has retired permanently from the strenuous life. His obituary in a country newspaper proves the fact. The cause of his demise is labeled: nicotine. Those who know, says a cigarette had him in its clutches, since the days of his knee-pants or, rather he had the cigarette in his clutches. The biography of Harcourt and the cigarette, if written by a powerful pen, would bring tears to the eyes of the tobacco trust. Flung into life amid the quiet of a country village, tutored by a loving mother, and warned by a hard-working commanding father, Horace had, according to the dictum of a college president, the best of qualifications for success—poverty. How did he use it? Learn, ye cigarette fiends!

At the age of twelve this bright, observant offspring of respectability, struck by the manly sang froid of an elder youth who wore a paper pipe in his face, went forth and looking the clerk of a cigar stand boldly in the eye purchased, in spite of his size, a package of concentrated poison. With Horace to worship was to imitate. Persons who witnessed his initial smoke will swear he turned first white, then green—green almost as a revenue stamp. Himself confessed "he felt so funny he couldn't see straight." Later, he felt a little "funnier," and if the rear of a barn could speak it would tell of many groans and sobs born in the agony of an upheaval, Horace surrounding the disturbance. In this wise he took his first degree. The next smoke was easier. The outraged stomach, lungs and heart, being extremely human, had begun to accustom themselves to the nicotine. Harcourt smoked and continued to smoke.

His dear mother intended him for the pulpit on his maturity, but Horace never matured. His wits and every endearing virtue he possessed went sky-ward in the perfumed vapor of imported curly-cut. His character was lost in a cloud of smoke. As has been stated, his name was Horace, but he was careless as to whether people called him "Bill," "Jack," "Tom" or "Si." At last he became as indifferent to friends and relatives as a Turkish Pasha to his subjects. His mind had gone glimmering in dreams. About this time, anyone coming near Horace, could hear the beat of his heart as plainly as the tick of a clock. The pathos, more properly speaking, bathos of his stage unnerved, ay, dismayed every spectator of his vice excepting his mother. She, good, tender woman, pitied, petted and admonished him against it.

But all in vain. Like Aetna, uncaring of the curses it calls forth or the ruin it showers around, Horace continued to smoke. Time and again, his father had preached to him with a razor strop, speaking of idiots the while. Harcourt threw away his package of nerve-destroyers, but an hour later, disgusted with what he thought was paternal tyranny, begged a "pill" from a "pal," and, after the second whiff, or what the kids call "inhale," bought another dose of obsession. Soon his tortured stomach—extremely human—began its revenge. Horace could neither eat nor sleep. He sat up so late, gathering together his smoke-blown thoughts from the four corners of the firmament, that an opiate or a switch in his father's hands was necessary to bring on slumber. Swiftly he changed from a youth glowing with promise into a mere comic valentine; anon into a skeleton. Eyes that were blinded against the beauty of life, lips muttering incoherence were his; Duke's Cameo and Virginia Brights had triumphed. Harcourt became a spectre.

The rest of his history is silence. Horace, last seen, needed but a coffin to make a polite funeral. Hag-ridden, despondent, pale as death, and suggesting a picture of vice on the edge of the abyss, he sunk into his grave, a victim to the lure of Lady Nicotine. This epitaph may, with propriety, be inscribed on his tombstone:

Here lies a youth with classic name,
Whose swift demise a mother wails:
He fought, but fighting, loved the game,
And was outclassed by coffin-nails!

SONG OF THE MISSAL THRUSH.

Listen, loved one,
While the northeast, panting,
Wrestles with the sunlight through the trees,
Undismayed
I will sing of Summer,
Dappled eggs nest-cradled
High among the larches,
Love and hope that doubt not
Brooding over thee.

Well-beloved,
Winter's berried harvest
With our north-bred cousins we have shared;
We have seen
Winter's ermine mantle
White on hill and meadow,
Black on icebound rivers—
Fear we March who have December dared?

Listen, loved one,
Westward, sinking, sobbing,
Yields the storm-wind, strength and fury spent;
Now the sun,
Clear, though pale with conflict,
Falls aslant on oak boles lilac-tinted,
Emerald beech stems, last-year's ruddy bracken—
He will triumph,
Therefore be content.

Come, beloved,
To the larches yonder;
Hear the tale the chattering fieldfares tell:
Autumn followed Summer, Winter Autumn,
Spring will follow Winter,
All is well.

THE TERMS.
What are terms which cause these squirms
And seem to ask our pity?
What things are these the Japanese
Are asking of M. Wit-te?
O, some regard them harsh and hard
And some insist they're easy,
And some suppose they're such a dose
As makes the stomach queasy.

Do they demand the Czar shall stand
In front of the Mikado
And there kotow and bow and bow,
Eschewing all bravado?
And while the mob shall watch him bob,
With ludicrous solemnity,
The Japs, perhaps, like wily chaps
Will grab the gate indemnity!

Would they arrange and interchange
Of—well, "domestic duties;"
The grooms, perhaps, to be the Japs,
The brides the Russian beauties?
The DOT to show (some spell it "dough")
Before each ceremony,
And if divorce ensue, of course,
The Japs get alimony!

Or would they make each Russian take
Out "mutual" insurance,
The Japs to be the company
And hold the funds in durance?
Then when in need of fun, or feed,
Or fireworks, forts, or fences,
They'd simply split it from the till
And change it to "expenses."

Some say the Russ is blustering,
Some say the Jap is breezy;
Some say they're hot, some say they're not,
But rather cold and wheezy:
The terms, some hint, are hard as flint;
Some say they're mild and cheery,
But we all know that time will show
They're only Japanese!

MISTAKE CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER FOR MUSICIAN.
Chief Justice Fuller of the United States Supreme Court was mistaken for an itinerant German musician at the Savoy Hotel recently and given a poor room on this account.
Mr. Fuller, accompanied by his daughter, arrived at the Savoy, where the clerk, after booking them, looked the Justice over from head to foot and, to the conclusion that a man so diminutive in size and with such long hair could be but one thing—a German musician—so he gave the Justice and his daughter the poorest rooms he had vacant.
When later he learned who the distinguished guest was he was enthusiastic in his attempts to apologize—London Cable to New York Herald.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY

MANY SOCIAL EVENTS IN PROSPECT

MISS ALLEN WILL ENTERTAIN—TO SMART SET. SMART SET.

Miss Gertrude Allen will be among the young hostesses on this side of the bay who will entertain for Miss Carol Moore, whose marriage to Arthur Gelsler takes place in September. Miss Moore is one of the attractive brides-to-be and is the center of much entertaining. Miss Malsie Langhorne of San Francisco will entertain in her honor.

TWO WEDDINGS.

Two weddings of importance were solemnized yesterday. At 11 o'clock yesterday morning Miss Josephine de Guigne, daughter of Christian de Guigne, became the bride of Viscount Philip de Tristan de France, at St. Matthews' Church in San Mateo. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Marie Christine de Guigne. The bride and maid of honor were both exquisitely gowned in white. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the de Guigne home, "Baywood." The young Viscount and his bride will spend a two months' honeymoon in California before going to France, where their future home will be made.

Another charming bride of yesterday was Miss Charlotte Lally, whose marriage to Arthur Kelley was solemnized at 9 o'clock last evening at the St. Francis Hotel. The bride's gown was a rare combination of chrysanthemum tulle and duchesse lace.

The maid of honor, Miss Marion Lally, wore pink point d'esprit, and the four bridesmaids, Miss Muriel Kelley, Miss Evelyn Hussey, Miss Kittie Kutz and Miss Norma Castle, were gowned alike in white, and carried tiger lilies.

William Forte acted as best man and the quartet of ribbon bearers included William Creed, George Sessions, Philip Fry and Emory Farnum.

About fifty guests were present at the ceremony, which was followed by an informal reception. After a honeymoon Mr. Kelley and his bride will make their home at Piedmont.

HOME WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Genevieve Maud Gould and J. Arthur Roach of San Francisco was quietly solemnized Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's mother in Alameda. Rev. Father O'Connell officiated. There were no attendants, but an informal reception followed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Henry Elmore of Alameda, and the late E. H. Gould. Mr. Roach is a prosperous young business man of San Francisco. The young couple will be at home to their friends after September 1, at their new residence in Alameda.

PROSPERITY HALL.

Interest is constantly increasing in the coming farce, "Prosperity Hall," to be given by the members of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Parish at Idora Park theater on Tuesday evening, August 29. The farce was written by Miss Regina Reilly, who has developed skill as a playwright. The story is based upon the aspirations of an ambitious country girl, Dolly Rodgers, who seeks fame and happiness with three bachelor maid friends in New York. Dolly's mother sees that her daughter's curies in disenchantment, and Dolly goes to New York. After various amusing experiences, Dolly returns to the home nest.

The young ladies in the play are well adapted for their roles. Following is the cast of characters:

Dolly Rodgers, a country girl with ambitions. Ellen Dinneen; Mrs. Rodgers, her mother. May Doling; Bachelor Maids—Clophine (a writer), Laurita (a pianist), Elizabeth (an artist); the Twinkins (Dolly's sisters), Louise Hart and Josephine Hagg; visitors and country friends, etc.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Richard B. Ayer and her sister, Miss Dennison, have sent out cards for a "five hundred" party, to be given Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Beatrice Priest-Pine as guest of honor.

SUMMER MAN TAKES AWAY GIRL AND MONEY

NEW YORK, August 24.—A summer man has eloped with one of the prettiest girls at Rockaway Beach. L. I., and also got away with $600 in cash, which he secured from the Rockaway Beach Branch of the Long Island Bank on bad checks. Added to this, he deserted the bride twenty-four hours after the elopement, stole her ring and now the police are looking for him.

The girl was Sophie Schleutter, niece of Conrad Seidenberg, a hotel keeper at Seaside, Rockaway Beach. A few days ago a dashing, well-dressed young man appeared at Seidenberg's. He said he had bought a cottage at Rockaway Beach and wanted to remain at the hotel until his house was ready for his occupancy. He said his name was William Schneider.

Seidenberg gave the young man his best room and the stranger who appeared to be plentifully supplied with money, began to court Miss Schleutter, who was cashier at the hotel. A few days ago Seidenberg sent Miss Schleutter to the bank to make his daily deposit. She was followed to the bank by Schneider and after she had deposited the money the man stepped up to the window of the paying teller and requested that a check for $200 be cashed.

The teller protested and declared that he did not know the stranger. Schneider then called the young woman back and said that she knew him as a boarder at her uncle's hotel. The girl certified to this and the bank officials asked her to sign the name of Seidenberg and her own name to the check. She did so and the stranger got the money.

The next day Schneider worked the same scheme with Seidenberg's daughter and the bank again cashed his check. In all he got over $600 from the bank.

Miss Schleutter was going to Long Island City the day that the second check was cashed and Schneider said he was going to the city to make some purchases. On the way to Long Island City Schneider ardently wooed the young girl. He declared that she was the only woman he ever loved and he wanted her permission to go to her parents and ask that she marry him.

Miss Schleutter declared that was not necessary. Schneider pressed her to marry at once and she agreed. They went to Manhattan where the ceremony was performed. It takes forty-five minutes to go to Long Island City and the wooing occupied that length of time.

The next morning Schneider, attracted by a large diamond ring the young woman was wearing, asked her if he could not take it out and have it reset. The bride agreed, and thus then Schneider has not been seen.

The Rockaway Beach Branch of the Long Island Bank has meanwhile stopped Seidenberg's account and notified him that it will hold him responsible for the money which Schneider received. Seidenberg has engaged Lawyer George A. Mott, of the Garfield Building, Brooklyn, to defend him, and will demand the return of all his money.

Seidenberg declares that he never saw the stranger until he entered his place. Schneider is tall and handsome, with curly black hair and a black mustache. He was dressed in a blue serge suit and wore a big Panama hat.

BABOONS INTERRUPT WORSHIPERS' AT THEIR PRAYERS

NEW YORK, August 24.—To leap from the ranks of the Salvation Army to a circus parade was the unusual feat performed by a dozen brawny Salvationists who returned after two days' experience with a traveling show.

Manager George Peck, of the Washburn & De Alma's Circus, a small show touring Long Island towns, was short-handed and, as a last resort, visited the employment bureau of the Salvation Army. He was furnished with twelve strong men, some of whom had participated in street corner meetings and realized the opportunity of converting the circus hands.

Unfortunately for the recruits, their fellow employees did not take kindly to them when they joined the show at Freeport, Monday. The usual parade was about to start and the new men were hustled into costumes. Two were placed on a chariot drawn by elephants and represented modern clowns.

"What are we to do?" one of them asked the driver as the bank struck up. "Do?" replied the man, with a grin. "Why, just be natural and you'll make a hit." One of them had handled a tambourine at street corner meetings. He had it with him, and the way he used it to the accompaniment of the musicians in the chariot ahead called forth applause.

On the return to the show lot the men were put to work arranging seats and cleaning animal cages. During the afternoon performance two of the Salvationists undertook to conduct a prayer meeting in the dressing tent. They managed to get through, but under difficulties. Prior to the evening performance six of them started to repeat the prayer meeting.

One, a Scot, called Sandy, offered a fervent prayer for the redemption of the show people, whom he characterized as "the most wicked of sinners." Some of the canvasmen objected to this and a fight was threatened, when Leon Washburn, one of the proprietors, said he would allow the new men fifteen minutes to conduct their meeting and that any of the old hands who objected could step outside the canvas.

Half the employees accepted the invitation, and went to the animal quarters and secured two large baboons.

Three minutes later, during a prayer, two large forms bounded among the kneeling men and each tackled a victim. There were screams from the Salvationists and laughter from the old hands. There was a rough and tumble fight, and some one summoned the local police, who made no arrests, as they could not find the man who released the animals. In the melee one of the baboons escaped and was captured later in the kitchen of a nearby house.

"There's no use trying to convert circus canvasmen," Police Captain Raynor said to Mr. Washburn. "Take my advice and send the new hands back to New York."

Washburn decided to wait another day, but when the show was put aboard the cars it was found that the hammocks in which the new men were to sleep had been cut, he paid the new men off and furnished them with tickets to New York.

TO TEACH CO-EDS TO WALTZ AND USE FENCING FOILS

SEATTLE, August 24.—"Dancing and fencing will form the principal exercise for the young ladies taking work in physical culture at the University next fall," said Dr. E. F. Rolter, physical director at the University of Washington, in announcing the appointment of Miss Lavina Rudberg as his assistant for the coming year to hold the position of physical director of women.

"Do not understand that we are to run a two-step, waltzing or dancing school in connection with the physical culture work for the young ladies at the University next fall, but, surprising as it may be to a great many people, the ideas of physical culture for women have undergone a great change in this country in the last few years. In the past too little account has been taken of the physiological differences between men and women. Their work has been too heavy. Basket ball is a man's game and is positively injurious to women in my opinion. Few women are strong enough to use the parallel bars.

"Miss Rudberg, our physical director for women, is thoroughly equipped for her work and is now studying under Dr. Sargent at Harvard University in the school of physical culture at that institution. Miss Rudberg has been connected with gymnasium work for women at the University of Minnesota and also in a number of leading colleges in Illinois. When she was appointed to take charge of the work for women at the University of Washington, it was arranged to have her take the course at Harvard under Sargent for the purpose of introducing the latest methods of physical culture for women at the Washington University.

"Last year several radical changes were made in the manner of conducting the physical culture work for men. So far as possible it has been my attempt to cut any course in the gymnasium that savors of work for women's sake. To derive benefit from gymnasium work it must be enjoyed. The way to work men in the gymnasium is to make play out of their work. With this end in view last year we eliminated as far as possible the routine work and substituted wrestling, fencing, boxing and such sports. Such work in the gymnasium is at the same time interesting and beneficial. For example, dumbbell calisthenics soon became burdensome because they are monotonous and unvaried and consequently cannot be of any lasting benefit.

"Well, you ask, if you are not going to teach two-steps or waltzes, what kind of dancing are you going to teach? The answer is called aesthetic dancing and has for its object the giving of a grace and ease of carriage to the student. In one sense it is really not a dance at all but a series of movements of the body alternating with steps rhythmically to music or count. Especial attention is given to position.

"Students are especially liable to be round shouldered and slouchy in habits of carriage and I have noticed this to be exceptionally true of college girls. The new courses will teach the girls better how to stand, to walk and to move gracefully in every movement. Fencing is also a splendid exercise for women. Both aesthetic dancing and fencing will be given especial prominence for women at the University next year and so far as possible all the old routine drills and time honoring gymnasium courses will be supplanted by games that bring in an element of play."

ROMANTIC COUPLE WED IN THE EARLY DAWN

NEW YORK, August 24.—It wasn't an elopement at all, but it might as well have been so far as their friends were concerned, for Miss Nora O'Brien became the bride of James S. O'Donnell at 5 o'clock in the morning at St. Lucy's Church, and not a soul knew of it save the bridal party and the Rev. Father Tracy, who married them.

The young couple sought in that way to avoid the showers of rice, slippers and the other accessories of a twentieth century wedding, and they succeeded admirably, for they were well on their way in a flying automobile to Utica, where they took a train for the Atlantic coast, before the news had leaked out. And then it was too late to regret that they had not been in on the secret, and so their friends took it good naturedly, for the laugh was on them and the rice and old slippers will go a begging.

The bride, who is a pretty young woman, was gowned in a becoming frock of crepe de Paris, trimmed in Valenciennes lace, and she wore a hat of white roses and lace. Miss Manie Murphy was maid of honor and she was attired in a pretty frock of white with a white lace hat. The groom was attended by his brother, William P.

O'Donnell, and the bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. Della O'Brien of 210 Oswego street.

At the church door an automobile awaited the young couple, who, together with the maid of honor, Miss Murphy, and the best man, W. P. O'Donnell, were driven away just after the ceremony. Miss Murphy and Mr. O'Donnell rode as far as Fayetteville and returned on the street car, while the young couple were taken on to Utica, where they leave for New York. Mrs. O'Donnell has been employed in the cloak department of Witherill's for nine years, where she has been most successful and is highly esteemed by those by whom she was employed and by her associates and friends in business and social circles.

Mr. O'Donnell is one of the cleverest young business men in this city. Eight years ago he was earning a salary of $10 a month and today his wealth is computed well into the thousands. It has been by careful saving and skillful investment that he has acquired his fortune and he has his money invested in many well known enterprises in this city. After a month's wedding trip, which will include New York, Atlantic City and Saratoga, Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell will reside in their new home in 302 Delaware street.

SICK HORSE DRAWS THREE POOR DEAD BABIES

NEW YORK, August 24.—In a buggy carrying three dead babies, whose parents were too poor to attend their funerals, Gus Cohen, nineteen years old, of No. 71 Eldridge street, crossed the Ninety-second street ferry to Astoria, on his way to Mount Zion cemetery to bury them. As Cohen drove up Ninth Avenue, Astoria, his horse fell, exhausted.

In the sun lay the three bodies; in their thin wooden coffins, Cohen tried in vain to get the horse to rise. The young driver had about made up his mind to abandon the horse, put the three coffins on his shoulders and carry them to the cemetery, when William Dusing, Long Island superintendent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, arrived.

He had been told by telephone of the accident and had hurried to the scene, believing at first that Cohen was moving bodies from a baby farm. Dusing arrested Cohen, who said:

"I am employed by L. Greenberg, an undertaker, at No. 224-226 Division street. He sent me out today. I had to go up to One Hundred and Thirty-second street for the last body, and I told Mr. Greenberg that the horse was too sick and weak to go the distance. Greenberg said that he had so many funerals that he could not spare another horse. It is not my fault that the horse fell."

Dusing telephoned to Greenberg that his horse was at the Astoria Police Station, where Cohen was locked up, and that the bodies were at the same station. He expected that Greenberg would go to the station to bail Cohen. If he had the undertaker would have been locked up.

Instead, Greenberg sent another horse, which was hitched to the buggy, and the bodies were taken to Mount Zion just before the gates closed.

Superintendent Dusing said last night: "That horse was almost famished, and is both sick and worn. I will lodge a complaint in the morning against the owner when Cohen is arraigned."

MAY SEND LETTER FROM ANTIPODES TO ARCTIC

Even in the remote polar regions there are postoffices within the international postal union.

For two cents a postal card can be sent, at least during the short tourist season, from Australia, in the southern hemisphere, or indeed, from anywhere else in the postal union, to the faraway Norwegian postoffice on the shores of Advent Bay, in Ice land, on the western coast of Spitzbergen, which is the most northerly postal station in the world.

Along the barren strip of coast of both east and west Greenland a few hundred Danes and 10,000 Esquimaux form the most northerly settlements of the round earth. Here news travels under an adverse environment, with the ice-clad sea on the one hand and the eternal ice-cap of continental Greenland on the other.

There is an old story of the factor at a Hudson Bay trading post who received his London Times once a year, about 313 daily numbers, with the annual supplies of food, ammunition and clothing for his trade. Instead of reading the last paper first, or hastening through them all, he had a year-old newspaper laid on his breakfast table each morning, and so did not exhaust his news until another year's supply arrived.

The Greenland postal service is unique, if for no other reason than that it carries all letters without either stamps or charges. By far the greater part of the news travels by means of that most extraordinary seaboard, the Esquimaux kaiaik, which is, as Crank pointed out more than a century ago, the most serviceable of all types of boat, its size considered.

Shaped like a weaver's shuttle, of a length of eighteen feet, and made of oil-tanned sealskin, the kaiaik is only eighteen inches wide in its broadest part and scarcely a foot deep. Its sharp ends at the head and stern are strengthened with an edge of bone that terminates in a knob.

These carriers of news encounter endless danger in their long and lonely voyages. Several times each year a kaiaik post travels from southern to northern Greenland, and as a rule the extreme points are Julianehaab and Omenak. Even under favorable circumstances the journey occupies about five weeks, and the expense account amounts to some $30.

FLOWERS ON THE TABLE

Flowers are no longer massed in the center of the table. A few choice blossoms are used, distributed in a dainty way about the table, surrounding the central cluster, which, compared to what we have been accustomed to, is meager. This sparse use of floral decoration requires a new set of vases or flower holders, and specially made for the purpose are crystal stands, banded with silver. For the table center is a circle in two halves, to be used separately, if one wishes. To be with it are small single vases for the corners.

BIDDY BISHOP SEES BURNS AND TALKS OF COMING FIGHT

Biddy Bishop went over to San Rafael yesterday to have a look at Tommy Burns, and when the young manager was leaving the place he expressed himself as well pleased with Tommy's appearance and remarked that he had improved a great deal since he had seen him in action last September. Bishop handled Billy Woods in a fifteen-round contest against Burns at Seattle last fall and he probably knows more about Tommy's fighting than any one around the bay. Coming down on the train from San Rafael Bishop said:

TALKS ABOUT MANY HORSES FOOTBALL AT STATE FAIR

Walter Camp, "Father of football," in commenting upon the new rules for 1906, says, in part:

"Where there was much discussion, both publicly and privately, regarding possible changes in the football rules for the season of 1906, and while the rules committee held protracted meetings devoted to these discussions, no radical alterations were made."

"It is probably not unfair to say that the majority of players and coaches were, to say the least, not displeased at the final resolution, although a good many of the latter have been willing to make a trial of the rule insisting upon a greater number of yards to be gained had there been a greater unanimity in its advocacy."

"But for the most part, the committee was not over-anxious to attempt this, and would have done it rather in the hope that it would satisfy some who were demanding a more open game than that which the quakers themselves desire an alteration."

"In the first edition of the rules book there is an error to which attention should be called. The committee increases the penalty of side-line coaching from five yards to ten yards, and this is duly recorded under rule 27-F. Under, however, the grouping of penalties, rule 23, this coaching is grouped under five yards, instead of ten yards. An errata slip has been printed covering this point, but some of those receiving early copies of the rules will find them without this alteration."

"One of the changes in the rules has been the more accurate determining of the line of scrimmage. It has already been argued that under this new rule greater freedom is allowed. Possibly this may be so literally, but the matter of fact there was considerable latitude in the way this rule was interpreted last year, and the new rule really limits more carefully."

"But by far the most important of the alterations is the definite instruction to the referee to blow his whistle immediately the forward progress of the ball is stopped, thus in a measure doing away with the rapidly growing and very detrimental feature of stealing the ball when its progress had been stopped and when the ball was really 'dead.' There is nothing that so irritates the average player as to having the ball taken away from him after it was 'downed,' and it is this fact that sometimes led to bad feeling between the players. It was certainly the increase in the Eastern football games last season, and one of the principal differences between Eastern and Western football was the earlier blowing of the whistle by the referee when the forward progress of the ball was stopped, and the point where it was 'downed.' The referee was quicker on this account and more satisfactory."

"One very excellent change in the rules has been that providing that a substitute when called on to field must report to the official before taking his place in the line. The sending out of substitutes to take the place of players when these players still cling to their positions, and the general discussion ensuing, or even more than eleven players being engaged at a time, were some of the disagreeable features of last season."

GARDNER AND RYAN ARE READY TO DO BATTLE IN THE RING

Winner Will Fight the Champion.

No ring battle that has been seen here in the past several months has been considered as close as the one between Buddy Ryan and Jimmie Gardner, set for tomorrow night at Colma. In every place where the fight was talked of during the past twenty-four hours admittance of both men were found. The wise ones all figure that it will be a hotter contest than the one between Britt and Nelson, from the fact that these two will be fighting hard from the word "go."

Johnny Reid, manager of Ryan, says that he is so confident of winning that he will bet the loser's end at the prevailing odds that Gardner does not beat Ryan again. That both men are full of confidence there can be no doubt. The match was made with the understanding that the winner's share shall be 75 per cent, so that although there is a guarantee of $3,500 for the fighters, the loser's end will not amount to much. Reid also noticed that the papers of yesterday stated that Gardner would challenge the winner of the Britt-Nelson bout, and in commenting on this said that when Gardner got through fighting Ryan he would want no part of either Britt or Nelson.

It has been remarked that Ryan will have much the better of the weights when the two come together this time. The weight called for is 142 pounds. Yesterday afternoon Ryan weighed just 141 1/2 pounds, and Reid said that if he weighed more than three pounds more than Gardner when the two reached the ring-side we would make Gardner a present of $500.

Willie Fitzgerald, who has fought both Ryan and Gardner, is at present training in the same camp with Buddy. Fitzgerald gives it as his opinion that Ryan is practically sure to win, but at the same time the Gardners are just as sure of victory, and from present indications the Lowell lightweight will be a favorite in the betting before the night of the battle.

The seats were placed on sale at Harry Corbett's this morning, and there is every indication of a big house for the new club, which is certainly called for by the good card that is presented.

Had the Commuters tried to throw away the game at Recreation Park yesterday they would have found it difficult, for the Seattle ball coxswains were in. As it was, Oakland won a sluggish game by a score of 6 to 3 and the fans went away disappointed.

It was the first game of the Oakland-Seattle series and the Swashes distinguished themselves by wild throws and careless team work. Six errors were made by the Seattle Shortstops. Huston made three. Charley Hall was on the mound for the visitors and he presented Oakland with ten hits. He was sulky and wild. The score:

GIVES DATES FOR TENNIS TOURNAMENTS WILL BE SOLD

The committee in charge of the coming tennis tournament for the championships of the coast have issued a circular giving the dates on which the different events will be started and the time that the final matches are to be played. On Saturday, September 2, at 10 a. m., the men will begin their singles competition. Play in the women's singles will be called Tuesday morning the 5th, at 10 a. m. On the afternoon of the same day the women's doubles start Wednesday, 6th, 10 a. m. The time for the mixed doubles will be announced on the courts. Both final matches of the singles have been scheduled for the afternoon of the 9th. The doubles championships for the men and women will be decided on the afternoon of the 8th and the morning of the 9th, respectively.

WHAT HORSEMEN ARE DOING ON BIG EASTERN TRACKS

BY THE SAUNTERER.
Green B. Morris left Latonia for New York taking with him the following horses: Bryan, Grapple, Gus Straus, Alma Dufour, Precious Stone, Irish Jewel and Zenop. The last named will be handled by Bill Phillips and be started in the Futurity. Alma Dufour's running qualities were leased by Edward Corrigan to Dave Barnes; Grapple and Gus Straus were sold to him outright. J. W. Colt will make jumpers out of Precious Stone and Irish Jewel. Bryan is the property of Green Morris, who will also train the Barnes' horses.

The new yearlings of Dr. J. D. Neet, which "Brown Dick" will train and race next year in partnership with the breeder of Hastings, Placid and other famous stars, have been shipped from Kindergarten Stud to Louisville, where they will be broken and trained and they will remain at the Louisville Jockey Club course until after the spring meeting there in 1906.

William Walker, the ex-jockey of Ten Broeck fame and a trainer of reputation, has again severed his connections with John H. Madden's stable and has come back to Kentucky from the east to once more open a public stable. He will make his headquarters at Louisville.

J. B. Haggin shipped sixty-four thoroughbred yearlings to the New York market from Elmdorf Farm the other day.

Will Steele is booked to arrive in Lexington, Ky., early in September and take up the Featherstone yearlings to begin the breaking process. There are twenty-one head of these youngsters at Kenmore Farm, of which seven are colts and fourteen fillies. They are all the set of the previous and the sensational Messenger.

Bull's Eye, formerly Sandy D., formerly Sandy Dingwall, the two-year-old son of Star Shoot, which H. M. Ziegler recently sold to Andrew Miller for the reported price of $10,000, only cost the Cincinnati turfman $1,000 as a yearling. So he made a good sale with a colt as yet a maiden.

Garnet Ferguson has written to Lexington, Ky., that Bearcat has successfully stood the firing ordeal at the hands of an eastern veterinarian and he is confident the son of St. George will round in the fall and be a good racing proposition in California the coming winter. Ferguson has an offer to train the home-bred colts of a California millionaire and he says he will be next season in charge of quite a pretentious racing aggregation.

"Western turfmen" here generally deplore the efforts of the St. Louis crowd to break into Louisville, says the Saratoga correspondent of the Morning Telegraph. "Kentucky is the only State in the middle west in which racing may now be conducted without the bother of legislation. The meetings at Louisville, Latonia and Lexington are among the best in the west. Louisville has long been a bulwark of western racing, but Louisville cannot stand a race track war with better than other cities in the west have. For the good of the turf and the salvation of the sport in Kentucky it is hoped that the scheme to transfer the merry-go-round game to Louisville to Louisville will fail of realization."

Commenting upon the application made to the New York Jockey Club a day or two ago by Willie Martin:

MAKING BOOKS PUGILISTS VISITED BY IN OTHER LANDS FANS

On the racetrack in Austria and Hungary they have the pari-mutuel, but bookmakers are permitted to do business provided they hold a license from the Jockey Club. A bookmaker so licensed must bet on every race day or pay a penalty, and he is compelled to accept a bet from the owner of a horse, at the odds he has announced, up to the sum of $200 for a win and $200 for a place. He must bet 1, 2, 3 when there are seven runners, and 1, 2 when there are four. He cannot take a bet on a racecourse for a smaller sum than $40, but he can take a bet at his private house for sums not less than $2.

Bookmakers are forbidden to own racehorses or a share in racehorses, or in any way to possess an interest in racehorses. They are forbidden to own or have any interest in any sporting publication, or to be a correspondent to a sporting paper. The bookmakers pay $1000 a day for the right to bet each race day at Vienna, and $700 for each day at Karlsruhe and Kottbus. Moreover, they have to deposit with the Jockey Club $4000 as caution money. All bets have to be entered in proper books, and all accounts submitted to the Jockey Club. The bookmakers are also given a list of persons with whom they must not bet at all. If any one on the racetrack wishes to invest less than $40 he must put his money on at the pari-mutuel. It will be seen that the regulations and restrictions are very severe, but the system seems to work well.

In Italy the bookmaking is done by a syndicate and the race societies take care of the profits. The prices are very bad. In Germany all betting is done at the totalisator or pari-mutuel. In Belgium both the bookmakers and the pari-mutuel are permitted, but the bookmakers have to take out a daily license, and all their transactions are open to inspection of an official of the Jockey Club. In Spain there is free trade in betting—every one can bet; it is the seller's chance. In all countries where betting is under control there are few frauds, or scandals, and the public is very strongly protected.—Sporting Life (London).

NEWS OF THE DAY FROM THE SUBURBS

STUDENT MAKES A HIT WITH HIS PAPER NEW MAN COMING TO STORM SEWERS BOAT TO GO JUST LIKE A FISH

HARRY L. STODDARD.

Business Manager of College Daily Scores Success—Achievement of H. L. Stoddard.

BERKELEY, August 24.—One of the most radical steps ever undertaken in college journalism at the University of California is that which Business Manager Harry L. Stoddard of the College Daily has conceived and is now carrying out. Instead of having the patrons of the college paper call for their copies at the offices on the campus and there stand in line for the paper, Stoddard has organized a corps of distributors, on the lines of a metropolitan daily, and now has the Californian delivered before 7 o'clock to all the subscribers in Berkeley.

It is a feat that nearly all the college folk pronounced impossible and impracticable, but perseverance and intelligence combined have solved the problem and Stoddard is reaping his reward in the words of praise that are being sent him from all quarters. Stoddard took hold of the business management of the Californian last year when William Cavalier resigned, and his administration has been notably successful. He has built up the advertising patronage until the Californian fairly bulges with advertisements. There is no student paper in the land more liberally patronized.

THEME IS SCIENCE

Savants Write of Truths They Find.

BERKELEY, August 24.—Professor John C. Merriam has written a bulletin entitled "A New Saber Tooth From California," which has just been issued by the University press. The bulletin is devoted to a description of a mammalian fossil, part of a collection presented to the University of California by Bernard Blenheim of San Francisco. At least two carnivores of the collection are new to science, according to Professor Merriam. One of these has already been described as the type of a new and peculiar canid genus, Hyaenognathus. The second form, which is described in the latest bulletin, represents a large saber toothed carnivore considerably from the previously described. The species is known only from a mandible found with the type of Hyaenognathus near the foot of the Tertiary range at Aspinito range, Kern county. This specimen, like the others found with it, is covered with a very thin film of gypsum, preserving the fragile bone. The age of the beds in which the mandible was found is not definitely determined, though such evidence as has been obtained indicates quaternary or late Pliocene age. Professor C. A. Knofel of the zoology department of the University has embodied information of interest to students of marine life in a paper entitled "Some New Tintinnidae From the Plankton of the San Diego Region." The specimens he describes are ciliates which have not been described before, which are, the writer says, of considerable interest in several instances, owing to the highly specialized nature of the external shells or loricae which these simple unicellular animals have formed in adaptation to a specific life.

Chair of Music to be Filled by a Master From Pennsylvania. Improvement Club Wants Them in Town.

BERKELEY, August 24.—Dr. J. Frederick Wolfe has been secured by the University as professor of music. Professor Wolfe will arrive in Berkeley early in September and take up his new duties at once. He comes from Bethlehem, Pa., where he has been director of the Bach festivals, the success of which has given him a national and even international reputation as a chorus leader and organist. He comes from a Moravian family and finished his musical education under Professor Rheinberger in Munich. In 1900 the first Bach festival was given under his direction. There were two sessions given in one day, consisting of the B Minor Mass. This was the first time that great work was given in America. The festivals given since then have added even more to his prestige. Mr. Wolfe, who was the moving spirit of these remarkable festivals, is a son of the Lehigh valley, and though he completed his musical education abroad, he laid the foundation of it here upon the Bach chorale and the Moravian hymn. He is recognized as a man of solid scholarship, with full technical knowledge and great skill as a leader. He traces his ancestry back to the early days of the settlement and comes from a long line of musicians, who for generations contributed their share toward making this community so musical that the material for such an achievement lay ready at hand, only waiting the advent of a man, who could by his attainments and personality so fuse the various elements together as to make possible such a series of performances of the greatest works in the field of sacred music as have been rarely heard in this country, if at all, and which from every point of view may be considered in their effect on the future of musical life in America as in the truest sense epoch making.

The establishment of the chair of music in the University of California should exert an important influence in the musical interests of the whole State. With the Great Theater the possibility of the development of a magnificent University chorus is unlimited. The department of music will offer a chance to the masses of students of the University along musical lines.

BERKELEY, August 24.—At a meeting of the Ashby Improvement Club last night at the Peralta firehouse the principal business was a discussion of the contemplated revised charter.

A communication from the W. C. T. U. through Mrs. C. H. Cartwright was received. Saloons were deplored as a "dark spot on the brilliant escutcheon of this Athens of the Golden Gate" and as a hindrance to the business and educational advance of Berkeley. The writer further offered, on invitation, to send a delegation of ladies to speak to the club on the liquor question.

ENGINEER MCCLURE SPEAKS. Engineer McClure was called upon to explain to the club some methods of keeping the rain water from the upper portion of Berkeley from washing down to Adeline street.

"We should have a system of storm sewers," said McClure. "In East Berkeley we have a scheme of draining that portion of the town into Strawberry creek. The ideal way would be not to have macadamized streets but to have them bituminized. It is hard work to provide for the sub-drainage of the macadamized streets. I shall be glad to meet any committee you may appoint and go over the ground and make any recommendations that may seem necessary. The question of adequate drainage is an important one. Every storm in Berkeley ruins about $1000 worth of macadamized street work and this state of affairs surely cannot last long. A system of sewers of this kind, throughout the town might cost in the vicinity of $100,000. We should have catch basins at every few blocks to get the gutter water and carry it underground."

A. P. Hess pointed out that inasmuch as the town lost about $5000 yearly through the storms, it would be far cheaper to bond the town for $100,000. He moved that the Board of Trustees be asked to arrange for a system at once all along Shattuck avenue and Adeline street. The motion was carried unanimously. It was also decided to appoint a committee to meet McClure as suggested by the engineer. The matter was turned over to the investigating and recommendation committee.

AGAINST SALOON LICENSES. Hugh Fergie moved that the letter from the W. C. T. U. be placed on file and that the club members be urged to sign the petitions which are being circulated about the town. A. P. Hess stated that he was opposed to saloons on principle, but he believed that a high license and local option would be the best for Berkeley, owing to the proximity of saloon towns to this city. He thought that the question should be thoroughly discussed and a committee from the W. C. T. U. should be invited to give their side of the case. It was moved that the ladies of the W. C. T. U. be invited to the next meeting. The motion was unanimously carried.

BITS OF CHAT FROM BERKELEY

BERKELEY, August 24.—H. A. Johnson and wife returned last night from a trip to Los Angeles and vicinity.

W. H. Costar, a prominent real estate man of Chico is the guest of Mrs. C. H. Lee of Dwight way.

Byron E. Jones has been appointed to the position of professor of metallurgy in the University of Idaho.

Miss Maggie Smith, daughter of T. B. Smith of scenic Park, departed this morning on the Overland to visit friends in Nevada.

Mrs. Dove Freely of Chicago is on a visit to her two sisters, Mrs. Herman Partsch of 2601 Lincoln street, and Mrs. Welch of 1812 Pine street.

Mrs. L. L. Johnson of Washington D. C. is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. D. Grindley of 2415 Haste street, Mr. Tolman will join her early in September.

C. H. Lawton and wife returned Saturday from a two week's trip to the Portland Exposition. While north, a river was taken to the beautiful Columbia river.

C. A. Colmore, formerly secretary to Professor Huggard, is conducting corn experiments in the Santa Clara valley under the supervision of Warren G. Clarke.

Miss Anna Wilson, formerly a teacher in the Berkeley public schools, and her sister, Miss Mabel, both of Philadelphia, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Haley in East Oakland.

Mrs. Herman Partsch of 2601 Lincoln street and her two children have returned from quite an extended trip to British Columbia, having visited most of the principal cities.

Miss Ayden is to entertain at cards Thursday evening at her home, 841 Folger avenue. The affair is being held on behalf of the Ladies' Carnation Booth, and is for the benefit of St. Columba's church fair.

Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Lucas returned to their home at Elk creek yesterday. They have been attending a reunion of sisters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dunning of Carlton street. They were delighted with Berkeley.

Professor W. L. Jepson, of the department of botany, is now traveling in Europe. Professor Jepson represented the University at the Second International Congress of Agricultural Education, which was held recently at Leige, Belgium. He was appointed one of the vice-presidents of the organization.

BERKELEY, August 24.—Rev. M. O. Gerth of the German department has announced a series of weekly lectures for 7 o'clock Thursday afternoons in room 7, North Hall, beginning on August 31. These lectures will be given in German and will provide an opportunity for those who wish to hear the spoken German. They will treat of the history of the reformation of the church in the sixteenth century, the topics of the ten lectures are as follows:

1. The institution of the first Christian communities.
2. The development of ecclesiastical office: Bishop, Patriarch, Pope.
3. Constantine the Great and the Christian state.
4. Dogma in its origin and development, heresy, and the inner decay of the church.
5. The period before the reformation—Peter Waldo, John Wickliffe and John Huss.
6. The Crusades.
7. The Counter Reformation.
8. The Inquisition.
9. The Society of Jesus.
10. Ultramontanism.

SCHOOL CROWDED

Pupils Fill High School to Over Flowing.

BERKELEY, August 24.—At the meeting of the High School Board last evening it was shown that already there are more pupils in the school than can be successfully taught and that at Christmas at least 175 new pupils will enter, while less than sixty will go out. Speaking of the school and the conditions that exist there, Principal Morris C. James said:

EIGHT HUNDRED STUDENTS. "The condition of affairs at the High School is serious. We have all we can take care of down there now, and I do not know what we would do if any more register. Today our register shows 800 names, while last August at this time there were but 655. The need for more rooms is a most pressing one and must be supplied. The members of the faculty are now teaching six periods a day instead of the customary five, thus wearing them out much sooner."

"I have been looking over the course of study and I find that German is particularly troublesome at the present time. On account of the new requirements at the University, the German classes are unusually large. At the present time we have seven classes and there are but six periods and one German teacher. Either this teacher must stay after school one more period, if she will, and teach this extra class or we must have some qualified person from the outside. I tell you, gentlemen, to do first-class work we should certainly have three more teachers."

WILL WEAR OUT TEACHERS. "I did not realize that the affairs were so serious at the High School," said Professor Lewis. "It is certainly not economical for the teachers to work six periods a day, for they will become worn out in no time and will not be able to do the first-class work demanded of them or keep up to the standard. We must try and do something to relieve this condition, especially in the German department, which is hurting the whole school. The only solution is to get outside help and I make a motion to that effect."

The motion was passed and the principal authorized to get a qualified teacher of German for one period at $200 a year.

USE SMALL BUILDING. A. H. Broad, supervising architect of the board, reported that he had examined the basement of the High School, with a view to making it into class rooms, and he estimated that it would cost about $20,000 to do so. The floors were damp in winter as well as the walls, and that it was not the most desirable place for schoolrooms. Director Haseltine thought that if more room must be had, and as long as an addition was to be built, that it would prove more satisfactory to procure portable buildings for this purpose.

President Veir made a novel suggestion. He advocated using the two-room building at the Le Conte School and some of the other buildings that would soon be vacated, placing them on the High School land. This expedient was satisfactory to the board, but no formal action was taken in the matter.

Mr. James' request for lumber with which to build lunch benches was granted.

NOTES AND PERSONALS. Mrs. C. Eaton and Mrs. C. S. Alvord were guests at the Litanian Circle last evening in Oakland.

The United Order of Druids held its regular meeting last evening and one candidate was initiated.

A MEGAPHONE REACHES LONDON. About midnight fearsome cries arose from Carlton House terrace. First it was a sound of surprise and horror; then it became a frenzied appeal; then it rose to a prolonged wail of agony, as if all hope were lost. A foreign gentleman, walking down Pall Mall was much agitated. He rushed up to a constable and said: "Don't you hear that? Somebody is being murdered. He has been suddenly attacked from behind by a robber. He has shrieked for mercy; there is none. He fills the skies with his despair. And you stand there like a block of wood! No one to help this poor victim! And this is a city where you are so proud of your law and order, and your peaceful west end!" But the constable smiled a placid smile and answered: "Don't you take on like that. This isn't murder. It's only a voice calling Lady Smitherson's carriage!"—London Chronicle.

APPLAUSE FOR THE PRESIDENT. There is more or less envy in the shake-up of every man and woman on earth.

HAND IS CRUSHED SAN LEANDRO, August 24.—Frank Ashby had his hand badly crushed yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Ashby, who is employed as a machinist in the shops of the Best manufacturing plant on Davis street, was working about the shop, when he accidentally got his hand caught in a belt. The four fingers on his right hand are badly crushed. Dr. Coleman was summoned.

MINOR NOTES. George Tuttle had his hand badly cut yesterday at the Best factory. He was operating a cross-cut saw, when his hand slipped and was caught in the cut.

Rev. A. J. Hanson returned yesterday from a trip to San Jose. He was absent a few days.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Rhetorical Society Plans for Season.

FRUITVALE, August 24.—Officers were elected last Tuesday afternoon by the members of the Rockefeller Rhetorical Society of Highland Park. The following were chosen to govern the destinies of the organization for the next ten weeks: Creed Cawthrop, president; Miss Maude Williams, vice-president; Miss Rhonda Mitchell, recording secretary; Gordon Halsey, corresponding secretary; Miss Hulda Joseph, treasurer; Miss Maude Twyman, critic.

Preparations were commenced for a year of active literary work. The first program will be rendered next Tuesday afternoon in Mary Stuart Hall, when there will also be initiation of new members. The standing committees and minor officers will be elected as well.

Following is the program which has been arranged: Address, President Cawthrop; vocal solo, Miss Maude Williams; recitation, Miss Rhonda Mitchell; oration, Miss Maude Twyman; "Puddingstone," Miss Hulda Joseph.

The society has been in existence a number of years and has had several well known men on its roll. Assemblyman R. H. E. Espey was one of these, and the Rev. J. Whitcomb-Brougher, pastor at the White Temple, Portland, was another. The present members are well known in East Oakland for their literary and musical excellence.

CHILD'S ARM BROKEN. The 11-year-old daughter of F. Taylor, a painter, broke her arm last night.

The little girl was playing on the roof of a barn when she slipped and fell to the ground, breaking her arm at the elbow.

Mr. Taylor resides on Peralta avenue. Dr. D. Crosby was summoned.

NEWS NOTES. Harold Hilton has returned from a two month stay in Fort Bragg.

The Jolly Three have announced an entertainment and dance to be held at the Upper Fruitvale Hall September 23. The young men are preparing an excellent program and every effort will be made to have the entertainment a success. W. Broadway will take charge of the refreshments.

HENRY SCHNEIDER OF ALAMEDA.

Alameda Man Believes His New Invention Will be a Great Success.

ALAMEDA, August 24.—Henry Schneider, a well known Park street merchant, has had a launch built which is claimed will revolutionize all existing methods of deep-sea propulsion. Operated by a 5-horse power gasoline engine, the launch, which was planned by Schneider and George J. Foster, a local contractor of Oak street, and well known yachtsman, discards the traditional screw-propeller, and instead is to make its way through the water like a fish.

Built on the piscatorial plan, the craft has six fins, Foster states, three on a side, and it is claimed that it can attain a speed of twenty miles an hour. Schneider and Foster are to embark in the queer boat on September 6th for a cruise up the Sacramento river. They are first to go to Rio Vista, and will be in Sacramento during the Ninth of September celebration of the Native Sons of the Golden West, both skippers being members of a local parlor.

The launch, which was built by the C. W. Keith Company on the canal shore near Park street, in this city, has a length of 18 feet and a beam of but 58 inches. According to Foster and Schneider the craft, which was launched yesterday, has already provided itself a wonder.

"We have been working for years," said Foster, "on a new system of water propulsion, an improvement on the screw propeller, and although for many years others have made the same attempt and failed, we believe we have hit it at last, making us of the fin principle. Instead of one fine on a side, however, we have three."

The propulsor is secured like the action of the fins of a fish. We have adopted nature's plan of propulsion through water, and have made it a success. The edges of the fins are heavy on one end, and if we are stuck in the mud we have nothing to fear. All we have to do is to start the machine and the launch walks ahead as if nothing were wrong."

"We have a capitalist from the East, who is largely interested in ship-building, inspecting our boat this week at the works, and when we started up the machinery the launch walked all over the floor like a centipede. The only obstacle we have to overcome is rocks. If we get stuck on any rocks we will be up against it, but in time we hope to overcome even this difficulty."

The fin principle is our great secret. The fins are so constructed that they go forward closed, open out, and draw back. The result is that the boat has to go ahead. We expect to obtain a speed of 20 miles an hour easily. The fins run at an angle of 45 degrees from the bottom of the launch, on a level with the keel, and are at all times submerged.

"We have taken up many months to perfect the principle, and many obstacles had to be overcome. In a big seaway a boat with a screw propeller will often 'race' which is a great drawback on all vessels. With our boat there is no such thing as the engine racing, as the fins are always under water, being in the middle of the launch, opposite the keel, where the action is perfect."

Great secrecy has been observed during the construction of the novel launch, a high board fence having been built about the spot to exclude the mechanism from prying eyes. Schneider and Foster have named the craft the "Sea Skunk," and predict that it will prove a world-beater. They expect to reach Rio Vista on the first day of the cruise, at 4 p. m.

DOG POISONER. ALAMEDA, August 24.—The dog poisoner has been creating havoc in several blocks on Clinton, San Jose and San Antonio avenues, six dogs having perished at the hands of the fiend within two days, many of the canines being valued at from $100 to $150 each. L. C. Henderson of 2122 Clinton avenue lost a fox terrier valued at $100, the animal being fed meat and poisoned with strychnine, which was thrown into the rear yard. Another dog owned by Henderson was also poisoned, but recovered.

Jack Mulvaney of 2205 San Jose avenue nearly lost a Gordon setter valued at $150. The animal was poisoned, but prompt treatment effected its recovery.

Charles F. Nettnagle of 2169 San Jose avenue has a collie dog which was fed poisoned meat. A prompt dose of milk and olive oil save the animal's life, however.

John H. Skinner of 2119 Clinton avenue lost a cocker-spaniel at the hands of the miscreant who is causing a wholesale poisoning of dogs, and Samuel Robinson of 2157 San Jose avenue had his collie poisoned.

Andrew H. De Bernardini of 2650 San Antonio avenue lost a valuable Spitz dog. The animal was placed in the cellar at night and the door securely fastened. In the morning the door was found open and the canine on the floor, dead. A. G. Dexter, Sanford Bennett and L. C. Henderson, all of whom have had dogs poisoned, offer rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty party.

FUNERAL. ALAMEDA, August 24.—The funeral of Ruth Marie Messner, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Messner, who fell off their ark on the estuary shore near the foot of Willow street Monday afternoon, and was drowned, took place at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and interment was private. Judge Cone, acting for Coroner Mehrmann, is to hold an inquest on the case at 5 o'clock this evening at the local branch morgue.

CALL FIREMEN. ALAMEDA, August 24.—Fire Chief Fred K. Krauth has placed an order in the East for turn-out suits for the "call" firemen, comprising thirty-two pieces. The suits, coats and trousers, cost $7.50 each. They are of canvas outside, with an interlining of oil skin and an inside lining of light moleskin.

IMPROVE PLAZA

Ladies of Hayward will Present Drama.

HAYWARDS, August 24.—Tomorrow evening the extravaganza, "The Military Girl," will be played at the Haywards Opera House on Castro street.

The opera house has been beautifully decorated and a large crowd is expected to be present. The drama will be given Friday and Saturday evenings.

There will be thirty of Haywards' prettiest girls in the play.

J. C. Carlisle, who is staging the play, has been drilling the girls for the last month.

The Ladies' Improvement Club is giving the play and will devote the profits to improving the new plaza.

1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) is the primary photosynthetic pigment in most plants and algae. It is responsible for capturing light energy and converting it into chemical energy through the process of photosynthesis.

2. Chlorophyll b (Chl b) is an accessory pigment that works in conjunction with Chl a. It helps in the absorption of light energy and transfers it to Chl a for use in photosynthesis.

3. Carotenoids are a group of pigments that include carotenes and xanthophylls. They also act as accessory pigments, absorbing light energy and transferring it to Chl a. Carotenoids also play a role in protecting the photosynthetic apparatus from damage by reactive oxygen species.

4. Xanthophylls are a subset of carotenoids that are involved in the xanthophyll cycle. This cycle helps in the dissipation of excess light energy as heat, preventing the over-reduction of the photosynthetic electron transport chain.

5. Phycobilins are a group of pigments found in cyanobacteria and some algae. They are involved in the absorption of light energy and transfer it to Chl a. Phycobilins are also involved in the regulation of photosynthesis.

6. Anthocyanins are a group of pigments that are responsible for the red, purple, and blue colors in many plants. They are not directly involved in photosynthesis but can play a role in protecting the plant from stress and damage.

7. Flavonoids are a group of pigments that are responsible for the yellow, orange, and brown colors in many plants. They are not directly involved in photosynthesis but can play a role in protecting the plant from stress and damage.

8. Chlorophyll c (Chl c) is a pigment found in some algae. It is involved in the absorption of light energy and transfer it to Chl a. Chl c is also involved in the regulation of photosynthesis.

9. Chlorophyll d (Chl d) is a pigment found in some cyanobacteria. It is involved in the absorption of light energy and transfer it to Chl a. Chl d is also involved in the regulation of photosynthesis.

10. Chlorophyll e (Chl e) is a pigment found in some algae. It is involved in the absorption of light energy and transfer it to Chl a. Chl e is also involved in the regulation of photosynthesis.

One seldom realizes that he is wrong until he is found out.

CHICAGO, August 24—William Bracey, the negro waiter of the Holland Hotel, who was seen following Mrs. Elizabeth R. Mize shortly before she was killed by a robber Tuesday night, will be released today. Inspector Hunt declares he is satisfied Bracey is innocent. With the release of Bracey, the police have lost the only prisoner against whom circumstantial evidence pointed strongly as being implicated in the murder of Mrs. Mize. It leaves the mystery of the crime more dense than heretofore.

TOKIO, August 24.—The former Russian battleship Peresviet, now the Sagami, arrived at the Sasebo navy yard on August 23 from Port Arthur under her own steam.

The ex-Russian cruiser Bayan, now the Aso, of the Japanese navy, is expected to arrive there from the same port today.

OPERA SINGERS ARRIVE.
NEW YORK, August 24.—Fourteen opera singers on their way to San Francisco, arrived in this city today on the steamer Sicily from Naples and Genoa.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 24. A meeting of stockholders of the Western Pacific Railroad that has an important bearing on the financial arrangements of the new transcontinental line was held yesterday, when the capital stock of the company was increased from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000. The increase in the capital stock was made in accordance with a decision reached some weeks ago. Among those present at the meeting were J. J. Wells, president of the Denver and Rio Grande lines, who came from Denver to take part in the formal proceedings, and W. F. M. Cutcheon of New York, representative of the New York banking houses of Blair & Co., Read & Co. and the syndicate managers who took over the entire $50,000,000 of Western Pacific bonds.

"The only thing to be said about the matter," said Mr. Cutcheon, "is that Mr. Bartlett has been very successful. At the last evening, it is that the capital stock of the Western Pacific was increased from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000, in accordance with plans decided upon some time ago. There is nothing new to be said about the matter, and the financial matters at this time. As has previously been stated, the banking houses of Blair & Co., William Saloman & Co. and William A. Read & Co. have taken over the $50,000,000 of bonds of the Western Pacific bonds, and the money is now in their hands with which to build the road."

It is expected that within a few days an announcement will be made of the award of the railroad contracts for the construction of the road to Sacramento and Salt Lake, bids for which were recently submitted in New York.

The celebration in honor of the reopening of East Twelfth street, East Oakland, next Saturday evening promises to be a very large affair. Music will be furnished by the Fifth Regiment Band. An entertaining program will be carried out. The invitation reads as follows:

"Dear Sir: Your presence is desired on next Saturday evening, August 26, 1905, at the hour of 8 o'clock, on East Twelfth street, between Eleventh and Thirteenth avenues. The citizens of East Oakland are desirous of celebrating the completion of what was recently made as at this particular locality and as the old street has been made to look bright and new once more it is our desire to have you with us to help along in the enthusiasm and give vent to the feeling of approval, and in this manner the good landmarks we are one step nearer to having on 'Easy Street'. The following program will be carried out, and then those who desire can participate in a social dance. Good music by a good band will be on hand and a general good time is assured."

COMMITTEE:

The program is as follows:
"The Rocky Road to Dublin Town"
..... GEORGE Garthland

Those who witnessed the romantic play of "Pretty Peggy," now being produced at the Ya Liberty Playhouse, were very much pleased with the performance, and from the applause given by the audience it is evident that this play is one of the most successful given this season. The play is overloaded with good scenery and the beautiful costumes worn by the characters are of a style which was in use a century ago.

The mob scene in the last act is one of the special features of this play. An unsuccessful suitor for the hand of Peggy engages a mob to break up the performance of "As You Like It" at the Rialto.

Ola Humphreys, who takes the leading role, that of Pretty Peggy, is excellent in this character. She scored a most decided hit with the audience. Landers Stevens, who takes the part of David, is also an excellent actor.

Many of the other members of the company are all excellent in their respective roles.

"Pretty Peggy" will be the attraction at this playhouse for the remainder of the season with the usual matinee Saturday and Sunday.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digressions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says:

"For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. She was unable to eat or sleep, and her nerves were so badly affected, that she finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." Osmonds' druggists, 12th and Washington, 7th and Broadway, druggists, sell and guarantee them at a low price.

Barbara, will succeed Shillenburg, and Thomas Fassett, who holds the position of ticket agent at San Jose, will be promoted to Richardson's place at Santa Barbara.

It was announced yesterday at the Union Pacific office that M. G. Tonin, the well-known steamship agent, has been appointed general agent of the Italian business of the Cunard line of Atlantic steamers, under General Agent S. F. Booth in this city.
